HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Keystone International Livestock Exposition (K.I.L.E.) officially began Thursday afternoon with the traditional opening ceremony, held in the Small Arena of the Pennsylvania State Farm Show Complex.

The recipient of the Pennsylvania Livestock Association's Hall of Fame award was the late James P. Gallagher, whose wife Martha accepted the award in his behalf.

From the left, Pennsylvania State Farm Show Director Dennis Grumbine presents the Pennsylvania Livestock Association's Hall of Fame Award to Martha Gallagher, wife of the late James Gallagher, while state Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brosius helps with the presentation. The presentation was made during opening ceremonies for the 1996 Keystone International Livestock Exposition.

State Officials Cut Ribbon For Veterinary Diagnostic Laboratory

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — State Gov. Tom Ridge along with Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brosius on Monday officially opened the state's new $6.7 million veterinary diagnostic laboratory.

The 32,000-square foot facility is twice the size of its long 65-year-old outdated Summerdale predecessor and places Pennsylvania in position to do export testing requirements inhouse, as well as better protect the health of the state's considerable livestock population, as well as help prevent the spread of disease between animals and humans.

Located adjacent to the state Agriculture Department Building in Harrisburg, the two-story diagnostic laboratory helps to bring the state into compliance with requirements for full accreditation.

The state lost is accreditation in 1989 under the watch of the Gov. Bob Casey administration, although it wasn't the fault of the administration, but rather because of previous years of neglect to maintain modernization at the Summerdale lab.

That meant that those seeking to have routine testing done to fulfill export requirements, or even some intrastate shipping, had to wait until samples could be shipped to out-of-state laboratories and the results returned. The lengthened turn-around in time created a business disadvantage.

But more importantly, the state was faced with a growing potential for a serious animal and human health disease outbreak.

Because of changes in livestock operations, from numerous small stocks of livestock on farms to concentrated numbers on fewer farms, and the widespread growth in human residential developments adjacent to those high densities of livestock the situation was growing tenuously closer to a real threat of the state being out of position to responsibly deal with a disease outbreak.

Harvesting corn for silage is nearly completed across the region. As the corn continues to mature, farmers have made some very good silage during the last several weeks.

Early in the season some silos were filled too early, and the extra juices and weight from the green stalks caused major seepage and several toppled silos.

Now, locally, the ear and shelled corn crop promised to be good, and the markets are also reflecting better yields than were expected in mid-summer with the December futures contract closing below $3 after reaching almost $4 back in July.

Penn State And Pa. DHIA Host Feed Industry Seminars

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Penn State's Department of Dairy and Animal Science and Pa.DHIA will be hosting the 1996 Dairy Feed Industry Seminar at five locations throughout Pennsylvania.

The seminar is geared for professionals working in agriculture, including feed industry representatives, veterinarians, farm lenders, and extension agents. The program speakers will be Dr. Jud Heinrichs, Dr. James Nocek, Virginia Ishler, and Jim Boyer. The seminar will cover topics that can be applied out in the field. The workshop's agenda includes:

- Managing carbohydrate nutrition.
- Amino acid nutrition and its influence on milk protein concentration.
- Using NDF and particle size to evaluate effective fiber.
- MUN update for Pennsylvania herds.
- Downloading data for herd analysis.
- Preventing lameness in dairy herds.
- Farm case study analysis of:

OCTOBER 2, 1996

Trucklot buying activity was fairly good with best interest still centering on bone-in breast. Offerings were in close balance to instances short on bone-in breasts, generally at least adequate on the balance of items. Demand through retail and distributive outlets was typical for a first-of-the month. The market tone was mostly steady to fully steady with some cautious underlying trade sentiment.

Delmarva Broiler

OCTOBER 2, 1996

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was moderate to good, and was best on the generally tight supply of heavier weight sizes. Live supplies were moderate; weights varied, but were often lighter than desired. Processing schedules were moderate to heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were 1 cent higher at 57 to 71 cents. Trade sentiment was fully steady to firm. In the parts complex, bone-in breasts remained in short supply. Grade A boneless skinless breasts were in generally good balance, but lesser grades were readily available. Leg quarters were adequate to well cleared. Wings were fully adequate, occasionally ample.

National Grain Market

ST. JOSEPH, MO
OCTOBER 2, 1996

Grain and soybean bids took another dip lower, despite the talk of frost across the Midwest tonight. Traders ideas that bids have been oversold lately, made techinical corrections. Lack of new export demand also weakened bids. Wheat 4 to 16 cents lower. Corn 2 to 5 cents lower. Sorghum 6 to 11 cents lower. Soybeans 3 to 9 cents lower. Wheat planting continues to make progress this week as favorable weather allowed fields to dry. Bids fell moderately lower in response to sharp declines in corn and bean bids. Export demand has been very slow this week after earlier sales to Pakistan. Corn and soybean bids fell sharply lower again due to profit taking on the board and trade corrections on the floor. Frost is possible tonight throughout the Midwest but some believe it had been factored into the market earlier. Exports are slow this week. Soybean bids have definitely dropped as a week ago bids were 8.06. Harvest pressure for corn and soybeans, weighed on bids. U.S. Export Sales: Commodity Tonnage Del date Nothing new to report. OK City Feeder Cattle

OKLAHOMA CITY, OK

Compared to last Monday: Feeder steers 1.00-2.00 higher; feeder heifers steady to 1.00 higher. Demand good for steers, moderate for heifers. Steer calves steady to 2.00 higher; heifer calves 1.00-3.00 lower. Demand fairly good for steer calves, light for heifer calves. Quality of supply continues average to many plain. Weigh-ups average to full. Feeder flesh medium to slightly thin. Calf flesh medium to fleshy. Feedlot attitudes improving toward accumulation of feeder cattle. Factors influencing the bull trend are a light slaughter last week prompted by green fat cattle supplies; a downtrending corn market; and lighter supplies of 700-900 lb yearlings. Calf buyers continue to pick the cream and concentrate on steers as no hurry to accumulate wheat calves. Can't turn out for another month and many farmers having trouble planting due to wet fields. Slaughter cows 1.00-2.00 higher. Slaughter bulls 2.50 higher. Demand good for slaughter cows, especially Utilities. Demand continues very good for young thin cows and bred cows under 7 years. These will take advantage of abundant winter feed conditions. With corn harvest well under way several cows are being gathered to graze corn stalks. Total of 1,050 cows and bulls sold 60 percent going to packers. Receipts this week 10,450; last week 14,255; last year 8,211. Supply consisted of 60 percent yearlings and calves over 600 lbs; 31 percent calves under 600 lbs; 9 percent cows and bulls. Prices follow with weighted average weight and price in parenthesis. The OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC THIS WEEK WITH

OCTOBER 7-13, 1996

NEW MOON, OCT. 12.

WHITE HOUSE CORNERSTONE

On October 13, 1792, the cornerstone for the White House was laid. George and Martha Washington never lived there, since it wasn't finished until after he left office, but Martha's Virginia plantation house was called the White House, as well. John and Abigail Adams also had another White House, in Boston, but moved into the official White House when it was about half done. Abigail hung her laundry in the great unfinished "audience room."

Keep the young generations in hail, / And bequeth them no tumbled house! – George Meredith

TIP OF THE WEEK

☞ Remember to shut off the outdoor faucets, unless they're the no-freeze variety.

GRILLED SALMON & WATERCRESS-MUSTARD

Salmon for six, about 3 pounds, in 1-inch thick steaks

Watercress-Mustard Sauce

1/2 cup (1 stick) butter
1 cup minced watercress, leaves and stems
1 tablespoon Dijon-style mustard
1 tablespoon minced shallots salt and pepper to taste
additional watercress sprigs for garnish

Prepare sauce, preferably a day ahead, and refrigerate to let seasonings blend. Place broiler rack on lowest setting. Season salmon steaks with salt and pepper and dot with about half the sauce. Grill 5 minutes, turn, dot with remaining sauce, and grill another 3 to 5 minutes, until just opaque. Transfer to plates and garnish with additional watercress sprigs. Serve hot.

Makes 6 servings.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

When ye see a cloud rise out of the west, straightway ye say, there cometh a shower; and so it is.

– Luke 12 54

OPINION

Friendships Across Farm-City Fencerows

Next week is National 4-H Week. 4-H'ers from around the nation are joining together to celebrate the youth organization and the ideals for which it stands.

When you ask someone to visualize a 4-H member, he may think of a young boy leading a cow around a show ring or a girl baking cookies. The Lackawanna County cooperative extension reports that 4-H isn't just cows and cooking anymore. It is camping, fishing, pet care, leadership skills, crafts, sewing, shooting, archery, public speaking, gardening, child care, financial management, woodworking, and much more.

4-H is an informal learning experience for all boys and girls, ages 8 to 19. An educational program of the land grant universities, 4-H focuses on developing the whole person, symbolized by the 4-H's head, heart, hands, and health.

The 4-H program reaches youth through community clubs, special interests groups, and school enrichment programs. With the help of adult volunteer leaders, each 4-H group designs its own program to help members "learn by doing." In Pennsylvania 4-H members have over 200 projects from which to choose.

Our hats are off to all the 4-H members and their volunteer leaders, as well as the extension personnel who provide the backbone of the programs. Because of 4-H not only do many youth gain experience in practical arts, they make friendships across farm and city fencerows that can last a lifetime.

To Pick Up Farm Show Information

The premium list catalogues for the 1997 Pennsylvania State Farm Show have arrived at your local cooperative extension offices.

The premium list provides information on all the classes and competitions at the 1997 show. It has all the rules, entry forms, and closing dates for entries. Many of the classes have a Nov. 5 closing date while others have Oct. 28, Dec. 5, 15 and Jan. 9-11 closing dates. In addition, tentative schedule of events is provided.

The 1997 Farm Show will be held Jan. 11-16. Pick up your free copy of the premium list catalogue at your local cooperative extension office. Read carefully and make sure you make your entries in time.

To Check Forage Blower

A silage blower with a quarter inch too much paddle tip clearance suffers about a 20 percent loss in blowing power, according to Brian DeMaris, New Holland service engineer.

Blower paddle clearance should be checked and possibly realigned every year. This clearance test is the same for the discharge blower on your forage harvester as it is for the blower at the silo.

Clearance between the blower paddles and the outside band should pass over a dime but pick up a nickel at the bottom dead center. Paddle clearance should be tightest when the paddle hangs straight down to the bottom and increase as the paddle rotates upward to discharge the silage.

Without the greater clearance on the up thrust, the band would probably overheat and rob power. Remember it is the little things overlooked now that waste time and cost money later.

If paddles are worn, they should be replaced. Normal wear would cause paddles to wear beyond adjustment in three to four years, depending on use.

To Conduct 17 Cent Blower Checkup

According to Brian DeMaris, New Holland service engineer, you should give your forage blower a 17 cent power checkup.

DeMaris states all you need is a few minutes, a nickel, a dime, and two pennies.

First, place a nickel and a dime at the bottom of the blower case. Slowly, by hand, rotate the paddles in a clockwise manner pass the two coins. When properly adjusted, the paddle should pass over the dime but push the nickel up the side of the case to about the eight o'clock position before there is enough clearance to let the nickel slip by the paddle. If the nickel drops before this, the clearance is unnecessarily wide.

That cuts capacity and throwing distance. Remember to repeat the test for each paddle and make the necessary adjustments.

DeMaris suggests using the two pennies to adjust the paddles. Loosen the paddle mounting bolts and lay the pennies in the bottom of the blower case about an inch from each edge. Slide the paddle down so they touch the pennies. Proper clearance is a penny's width.

Using two pennies, one on each side, assure that the paddle will be square with the band. Then retighten the mounting bolts using a torque wrench. Make sure each bolt is retorqued on every paddle.

Feather Prof.'s Footnote: "Effort and courage are not enough without purpose and direction."

SKIM MILK AND WHIPPED CREAM

October 6, 1996

Background Scripture:
Jeremiah 5
Devotional Reading:
Jeremiah 5:20,21

As I write these words, we are in the midst of one of the three national political conventions. By the time you read this piece, the conventions will be over but the presidential political campaign will be in full swing. And between now and the election itself, we are not likely to hear the truth from anyone involved in the political process.

What if God were to say through a prophet today, as he once said through Jeremiah, "Run to and fro through the streets of (America), look and take note! Search her squares to see if you can find a man who does justice and seeks truth; that I may pardon her" (Jer. 5:1). Would they find such a person in your town? In your home?

You may think I am being too harsh on the politicians, but I am not blaming just them, but all of us for winking at patent dishonesty disseminated for the purpose of inflaming the voters to vote one way or another. We have accepted the premise that we cannot govern ourselves on truth alone. No one gets too upset when political candidates lie, for it is just the way "the game of politics" is played.

AS THE LORD LIVES

If you wonder what all this has to do with the prophet Jeremiah and the religion of Israel, look at his book and see why he is so pessimistic about his own people. "Though they say, 'As the Lord lives,' yet they swear falsely" (5:2). Jeremiah proclaimed doom, not because the people were lax in worship or public piety, but because their morality had become utterly corrupt.

And their corruption is not just a mistake of understanding, but a stubborn willfulness: "Thou hast smitten them, but they felt no anguish; thou hast consumed them, but they refused to take correction" (5:3). The people have been arrogant in their corruption: "They have spoken falsely of the Lord, and have said, 'He will do nothing; no evil will come upon us, nor shall we see sword or famine'..." (5:12).

These words first spoken more than 2,500 years ago are no more obsolete now than then. Do they not speak of our own morality today? Are these words not appropriate for us: "When I fed them to the full, they committed adultery and trooped to the houses of harlots. They were well-fed lusty stallions, each neighing for his neighbor's wife. Shall I not punish them for these things?" (5:7b,8).

DEFENDING THE NEEDY

During the political campaign we will hear a lot about public welfare and each party will try to persuade the public that they are the ones who will act in the best interests of the needy. But the words are barren without deeds. The people of Jeremiah's Day were also full of words, but the words wre insincere and self-serving. So Jeremiah prophesied: "They know no bounds in deeds of wickedness; they judge not with justice the caue of the fatherless, to make it prosper, and they do not defend the rights of the needy. Shall I not punish them for these things? says the Lord . . ." (5:28,29z).

How did the people in Jeremiah's day become so contemptuous of the Lord? How have we? Isn't it because they persuaded themselves that they could continue in their corruption with no fear of consequences? "But this people has a stubborn and rebellious heart; they have turned aside and gone away" (5:23). It was not that they didn't know better — there were prophets enough to warn them — but that, knowing better, they still trusted in deceitful words rather than in obedient deeds. "They have made their faces harder than rock; they have refused to repent" (5:3c).

Their problem is our problem too: talking whipped cream but living skimmed milk!

Farm Forum

Editor,

I have seen very little in the Farm Press concerning a very serious threat to the stability of the milk marketing system in Pennsylvania by limiting the pricing authority of the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board (PMMB).

House Bill 2686 sponsored by Representative Colleen Sheehan from the Philadelphia area, would effectively eliminate minimum retail milk prices. This means no control on out of store milk prices.

At first thought, this seems relatively harmless, after all the consumer buying milk at the store is a long way from the farm. Besides, I am told lower prices mean more milk sold at the higher class one rate, so what's the problem?

The problem is no prices stay confined to one part of the marketing system. If the milk price increases, eventually the consumer will pay, just as when the price goes down this decrease will end up down on the farm.

In our present system under the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board all increases and decreases are passed through the system from farm to consumer, with margins for processors and retailers being maintained. That is why it works so well, all milk price changes are immediately reflected in out of store prices.

Under a system that does not regulate the price out of store, prices will fluctuate, but competition will eventually send all price decreases back through the system to the point of origin (the farm). Without the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board regulating retail prices there will be no over order premiums, as there will be no system to pass the increases to the consumer. The result will be no premiums paid to the farmers because the consumer will not pay and the retailers and processors will not pay from their margins.

I have heard the argument that more milk will be sold at lower prices. I have seen no numbers that would indicate more sales at a higher blend price will cover what the farmer loses in premiums.

I also find it very ironic that the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau has a policy in force now that supports the elimination of retail milk prices, and at the same time it is preparing testimony to be presented to the PMMB, to support an increase in the over order premium because of increased feed prices. The ability to petition the PMMB for a premium increase will be severely limited if store prices become non-controlled.

Either this policy needs changed to support the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board and maintain the control on retail prices, or we need to get used to no premiums, price wars and more cheap milk. Economics says we can't have both.

All farm bureau members need to understand what this policy means and make an effort to change it, if you don't agree with it. If we don't get involved, the vocal minority will once again set the rules we have to live by.

"It's great to be part of the team at ADC that produces a quality product and stands by its farmers"
—Levi & LuAnn Ransom
Nicholson, PA

ADC Is the Place To Be

Quality milk and support of its members – the outstanding benefits that Levi and LuAnn Ransom refer to – are among the strengths of the premier dairy cooperative in the region

Atlantic Dairy Cooperative has a 78-year history of excellent service to its members. Financially strong, ADC guarantees a market for all member milk and excels in maximizing returns. ADC is a leader in providing equity payments, quality bonuses and over-order premiums to members.

Nearly 4,000 dairy farmers agree that "ADC is the Place to Be"

"A strong, prudent board of directors challenges management and staff to seek the greatest return on our investment in ADC, creating the highest net return to its members back on the farm."
—Richard & Janet Kriebel
Benton, PA

ADC Is the Place To Be

A high net return and a strong board of directors – the outstanding benefits that Richard and Janet Kriebel refer to – are among the strengths of the premier dairy cooperative in the region

Atlantic Dairy Cooperative has a 78-year history of excellent service to its members. Financially strong, ADC guarantees a market for all member milk and excels in maximizing returns. ADC is a leader in providing equity payments, quality bonuses and over-order premiums to members.

Nearly 4,000 dairy farmers agree that "ADC is the Place to Be"

We'll be there for dairy farmers... generation after generation.

For generations dairy farmers have helped keep America healthy, and Farm Credit has been there providing credit. In fact, for more than 75 years we have been a dependable source of credit to agriculture.

Our loan officers know the dairy industry and can help tailor a financial package to fit your situation. We offer loans at competitve rates to purchase or construct dairy facilities, purchase dairy cows and equipment as well as for general operating expenses.

So, no matter what size operation you have, we want to do business with you.

Westmoreland 4-H/FFA Livestock Sale Tops $106,000

DAVID HIEBERT
Westmoreland Co. Correspondent

MUTUAL, (Westmoreland Co.) — The sale of over 300 animals and carcasses at the Westmoreland County 4-H/FFA livestock auction netted about $106,500 for budding livestock producers in a sale here August 24.

In introductory remarks before the sale, William C. Kelley, Westmoreland County extension director, praised the volunteers—parents, 4-H leaders and other adults — that made the 4-H program workable. Kelly lamented the situation in neighboring Alleghney County where the fair had to be canceled due to lack of support. Kelley challenged Alleghney County to put on the kind of program demonstrated in Westmoreland. But he said they "couldn't afford it" unless the effected a fair using community minded citizen volunteers that want to see it happen. In Westmoreland County, the volunteers start at the level of the 4-H leaders and goes on up to the 21 member fair board, all who serve without remuneration.

At the end of the sale volunteers demonstrated the exact spirit of which Kelly spoke. When the last animal filed out of the ring, the people that had already been working at the fair all week cleared the sale arena of the auction lay out, and made the building available for the teen dance which followed in the evening.

Many buyers and 4-H participants included amounts from their purchase for the 4-H Scholarship Fund. According to Joanne Logan, extension agent for youth, the goal of the fund is to "meet all requests for scholarship money beyond high school." In 1995, it's third year, the fund granded six $500 scholarships. The scholarships are paid in the students' name directly to the university or college of their choice. Any Westmoreland 4-H member is eligible to apply. Grants are made on the basis of need, participation in 4-H and leadership skill exhibited.

More on the Westmoreland County Fair:

For years, fair officials have set an attendance goal of 100,000 and continued that goal in planning this year's fair. In 1995 attendance came to 91,000 shattering the previous 72,000 record set in 1992. Attendance includes paid admission, grandstand events and week-long exhibitor and commercial passes. This year the board included an additional weekend in the schedule starting off with country music performer, Aaron Tippin, on Friday evening, August 16.

But the attendance record? As in previous years, it was the weather. A storm came through Friday evening Aug. 23, keeping the crowd small and the total attendance withered at 93,500. The 100,000 goal remains a barrier be broken. Next year?

In another measure of participation by the community, the Westmoreland County Fair Board issued about 11,000 exhibitor checks totaling about $34,000. The premiums for these exhibitors are advertised and follow specific rules for hundreds of specific entries such as: clothing design, photography, baking and gardening specimens. Next year, fair organizers have decided that they will not mail the exhibitors fair books to this year's exhibitors. Rather, distribution will be through local agriculture stores and via insertion in local newspapers. Entries are due next year on August 1, 1997. In all about 4,000 commercial and non-commercial exhibitors participated this year.

Kristina Bierbower (center), Latrobe, sold her 129 pound Grand Champion Market Lamb for $903 to National City Bank, here represented by Trudy Olsen, manager of the Norvelt National city branch, and her son Tyler. Kristina had many duties during the fair. In addition to showing her lambs and hogs, she was also selected as fair queen. Photos by David Hiebert.

J.J. Himler, New Derry, sold his Grand Champion Market Hog to Ray Overdorff of the Westmoreland Mall Shop and Save for $1,457.50. The hog weighed in at 265 lb. for Himler, a first year 4-H member.

James Buttermore, Mt. Pleasant, garnered $3,042.00 for his Grand Champion Market Steer sold to Hoss's Steak House. Buttermore, shown here with Hoss's managers Glenn Martin from the Greensburg location, and Jim Sebeck from the Murrysville store, had the animal judged top out of 48 entrants. However, sale-wise he came in second to the Reserve Grand Champion which earned $3,673.50 for its owner David Cambruzzi, Darragh, from Lourel Highlands Animal Hospital, Somerset.

Experience, Use Of Expert Genetics Define New Holland Swine Champion

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — Kevin Pfautz said that he has been "showing every year I could," which totals five — and it took that long to hold the coveted New Holland Fair Swine Show trophy.

But Kevin did so with his champion heavyweight hog, weighing 266 pounds, a Hampshire/Duroc crossbred on Tuesday night in New Holland.

Kevin, 14, son of Rick and Sue Pfautz, Lititz, is in the 8th grade at Warwick Middle School. The hog, he said, was obtained from Creek Bottom Farm in Cascade, Md.

Kevin said that genetics were important in winning the championship. He said that he picked the champion because as a pig, it "looked lean and heavily muscled," he said. "I thought it looked good."

Kevin's first-time New Holland Swine Show championship capped a successful county show season, in which he picked up several class champions, including Elizabethtown. He said he will be showing at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition in Harrisburg, at the Manheim Fair, and at state Farm Show.

Ken Winebark, Hampshire breeder from Myerstown, said that while the hog is heavy, if you study the hog, it "is one of the leaner hogs we have out here. . . . a really, good, big-wasted kind of hog."

The reserve champion was awarded to a hog by the name of "Maine" shown by Zack Stoltzfus. Zack, 12, son of Myron and Sally Stoltzfus, Gordonville, said the hog's real name is Renberg and was obtained from Jerry Hostetter. The Blue Butt (actually a York/Hamp/Landrace crossbred) hog was nicknamed after the name Zack's cousin provided, short for "maniac."

Winebark said that the reserve champion hog, at 254 pounds and the light heavyweight champion, "is sure no slouch" and came very close to winning the overall championship.

Zack is in the 7th grade at Locust Grove Mennonite School and this is his first New Holland Swine Show championship.

BLOOMSBURG (Columbia Co.) — The 142nd Bloomsburg Fair held September 21-28 drew the usual large number of participants in the livestock shows and sale from the northern central Pennsylvania area.

Livestock Sale

The Livestock Sale on September 27 netted close to $28,000 in proceeds for 57 4-H and FFA members selling their livesstock projects.

Angela Lovell of Linden sold her champion market steer to Hoss's Steak and Sea House of Shamokin Dam for $1.12 a pound or $1408.50. The reserve champion steer, owned by Brandon Herman of Beavertown, was sold to Herman's Greenhouse of Beavertown for $.82 a pound or $869.20. A total of 12 steers sold for $11,680.59 for an average of $.85 a pound.

Steve Smith of Williamsport sold his champion market hog to Hatfield Quality Meats of Hatfield for $1.85 a pound or $490.25. The reserve champion market hog, owned by Dave Smith of Williamsport, also went to Hatfield Quality Meats for $1.20 a pound or $308.40. Thirty-seven hogs brought a total of $8,436.15 for an average of $.95 a pound.

The champion market lamb was sold to Rice's Livestock of Mifflinburg for $2.30 a pound or $273.70 by Janice Bower of Cogan Station. Angela Lovell sold her reserve champion market lamb also to Rice's for $1.75 a pound or $199.50. The total revenue for 46 lambs was $7,865.98 for an average of $1.63 a pound.

While the highest sellers for steers and hogs were the grand champions, the highest selling lamb belonged to Jessi McCarty of Catawissa and went to Scattered Acres Farm, Lewisburg, for $3.10 a pound for $241.80. The sale auctioneer was Harold Fraley of Muncy.

Lancaster Mennonite FFA Top Dairy Management Team

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — New York 4-H'er Gabe Carpenter earned a $500 scholarship for his knowledge of the dairy industry when he competed at the 10th annual Junior Dairy Management contest held in Harrisburg as part of the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show.

FFA and 4-H teams from throughout Pennsylvania, New York and Maryland participated in the contest. The scholarship is to be used for post-secondary education.

The first place 4-H team was also from New York winning $50, and the high FFA team was from Lancaster Mennonite High School, also winning $50.

Students were required to judge seven classes including dairy cow judging, linear trait and pedigree analysis, meats identification class, grain/forage identification, dairy agronomic practices, reproductive management and farm business management.

The top five contestants in overall score were interviewed by a panel of three judges on current events in the dairy industry.

Individual awards were presented to the top 10 contestants regardless of the division in which they competed.

Other high individual winners were: 2. Jeffrey Wilson, Canaseraga Active Achievers; 3. Michelle McMichael, Tulpehocken FFA; 4. Andrea Koinski, Berks County 4-H, Team A; 5. Kevin Youngers, New York State 4-H; 6. Barbara Schenning, Harford County 4-H, Team A; 7. Joel Harnish, Lancaster Mennonite FFA, Team B; 8. Ryan Martin, Lancaster Mennonite FFA, Team B; 9. Erica Davis, Berks County 4-H, Team A; 10. Steve Harnish, Lancaster Mennonite FFA, Team B.

First-Time, Former Champions Make Mark At Reading Swine Show

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — For one Reading Fair swine exhibitor, it was a return to former glory. For another, it was first-time glory.

First-time glory looked pretty good for champion market swine exhibitor Daniel Billig. He paraded a 232-pound Hampshire crossbred barrow to victory late last week at the Reading Fair.

Daniel, 9, son of Tim and Teresa Billig of New Tripoli, said the champion came from the medium weight division. This was his first championship.

Daniel is in the third grade at Northwestern Lehigh Elementary School. He said his brother George won champion fitting and reserve champion showmanship.

Reserve champion went to Steven Younker, Fleetwood, who said he won champion overall swine last year at the fair.

Steven, 14, son of Bryan and Denise Younker, Fleetwood, exhibited a 230-pound Yorkshire crossbred. Steven is in the 8th grade at Fleetwood Middle School. He won champion showman at Reading.

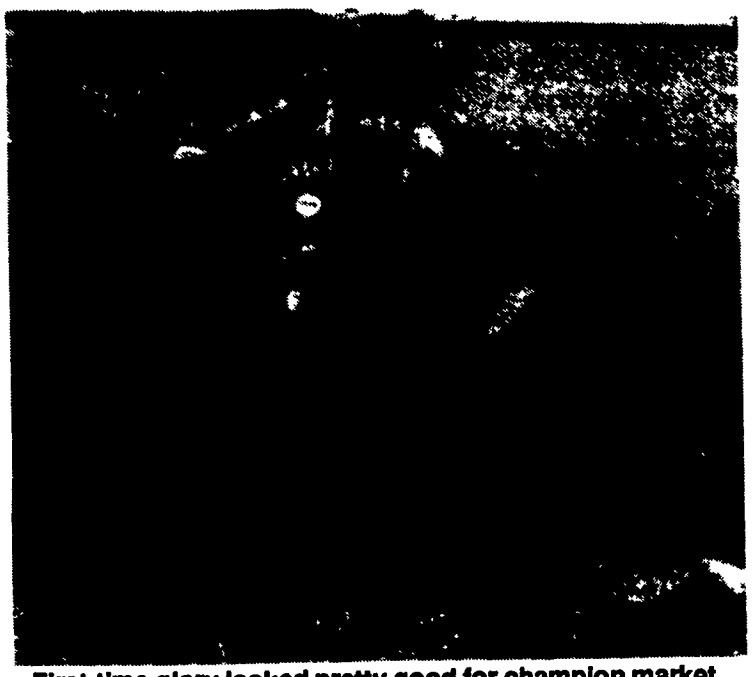
Following is a list of show placings.



First-time glory looked pretty good for champion market swine exhibitor Daniel Billig. He paraded a 232-pound Hampshire crossbred barrow to victory late last week at the Reading Fair.

Reserve champion went to Steven Younker, Fleetwood. Steven, 14, son of Bryan and Denise Younker, exhibited a 230-pound Yorkshire crossbred.

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — Buyers, spectators, livestock exhibitors, and a few hundred more watched as 130 head of steer, swine, and sheep went on the auction block late last week at the West Lampeter Community Fair livestock sale.

At the start of the sale, the 1,466-pound grand champion 4-H steer shown by Dale Livengood went for $1,725 to Thomas Trucking, Lancaster, represented by John Thomas. The FFA grand champion, shown by Jay Hess, weighing 1,272 pounds, went for $1,350 to Darrenkamp's Foods, Lancaster, represented by Joe Darrenkamp.

The 242-pound champion FFA hog, shown by Todd Rohrer, went for $800 to Hoss's Steak and Seafood for $800, represented by Joe Mizerak and Craig Campbell. The 264-pound 4-H champion hog, shown by Philip Charles, went for $1,050 to Leidy's Inc., Souderton, represented by Leon Stoltzfus.

During the hog sale, swine exhibitor Loren Hershey indicated that the proceeds from the sale would be donated to a children's mission in Lithuania. The hog sold for $650 to Shultz Transportation, Willow Street.

The 126-pound 4-H champion sheep, shown by Tiffany Dean, was purchased by H.L. Wiker and Son, Strasburg, for $1,025. The 116-pound FFA champion lamb, shown by Kevin Boyer, went for $500 to Hoss's Steak and Seafood House, represented by Joe Mizerak and Craig Campbell.

The total amount raised at the sale was $50,000.15. Auctioneer was Alan Diffenbach from Diffenbach Auction Inc., New Holland.

Smith Accepts Marketing Position

DAVID BIGELOW
Training Coordinator

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Tom Smith of Palmyra, Lebanon County, recently accepted the new position of southeast region marketing manager. He will be responsible in the development of a market plan for the region while instructing and assisting the region managers and field technicians in implementing a planned approach. Tom will learn all PA DHIA programs and services, represent PA DHIA, teach marketing techniques, make farm sales and conduct educational and marketing meetings. He will also serve on the "Heifer New" project team.

Tom was formerly employed as a sire analyst for 12 years at Atlantic Breeders Cooperative where he was responsible for purchasing 45 sires each year for the young sire program. Also included in his duties as an analyst was conducting many educational meetings for field staff and members of Atlantic Breeders. Many sires purchased by Tom became famous in their respective breeds.

He was raised on his family's dairy farm in Lebanon County and graduated from Delaware Valley College of Science and Agriculture with a B.S. He has judged several dairy shows, worked with International Intercollegiate Judging Contest, Pennsylvania 4-H State Days, Delaware Valley College, Invitational Judging Contest and Pennsylvania Holstein Judging School.

PA DHIA is honored to have Tom come aboard with the rest of the team. With his genetic and judging background, his contributions to the development and implementation of "Heifer Net" will be important.

Region Managers and Senior Technicians Meet

DAVID BIGELOW
Training Coordinator

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Recently the field staff from PA DHIA met to receive further training and be instrumental in setting the agenda for the upcoming Technician's Fall Conferences. The meeting was held at the South Ridge Motel, State College on September 17 and 18.

The meeting began with Dean Amick introducing Pete Dupuis, PCD Marketing Solutions, who facilitated marketing and sales management discussion with the group. Pete discussed different sales approaches and the best way to put a plan in action.

Upon completion of Pete Dupuis' discussion, Dave Slusser, General Manager of PA DHIA, introduced Tom Smith, Marketing Manager from Lebanon County. Tom will be responsible for servicing a part-time circuit while he is instrumental in training and developing a market plan for PA DHIA.

A review of the senior technician job description was conducted along with discussion of the technician health benefits.

Ziegler Shows Champion Market And No-Sale Lambs At New Holland

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — Brandon Ziegler won championships for his market lamb at many county fairs, but Wednesday was the first time he and his brother Corby ever tackled the New Holland Fair.

Brandon's entries resulted in both grand champion trophies for market and for non-sale lamb to add to his expanding collection of trophies. Corby took the reserve champion non-sale market lamb and the reserve medium weight champion market lamb.

The no-name sheep are some the Ziegler family had purchased from the West. According to Brandon's dad Dean, the family is relunctant to divulge exactly where because, "we have a good source, and if we tell others, they'd buy 'em there, and next we'll need to pay over the top prices for them."

Taking reserve grand champion honors in the market class was Becki Day.

Judge Travis Werley, ag loan office for Lebanon Valley Bank, said that Becki's sheep was the longest-bodied lamb he saw this year and that it was ideally conditioned for a heavyweight. However, Werley went with the Ziegler lamb because he believes it most ideally exemplifies what the market is looking for.

In her first year of showing, Becki placed first in the beginner's division of showmanship. The 15-year-old is the daughter of Cliff and Anna Day of New Holland.

Because the family does not live on a farm, Becki said that she kept her two sheep in a shed in the back yard. The neighbors, she said, were delighted to have sheep in the neighborhood.

Taking top honors in the senior division of showmanship was Keith Bollinger, son of Raymond and Sharon Bollinger of Ephrata. Keith also showed the grand champions in the Cheviot and Suffolk breeds.

It was another big night for veteran winner Jenniffer Zimmerman who used her champion Southdown ram to take grand champion of all breeding sheep, and she won showmanship in the intermediate division. Her brother Jimmy showed his Hampshire ewe to take the reserve champion over all breeds.

The Zimmermans are the children of Jay and JoAnn Zimmerman of Akron. The siblings have used their breeding stock to win at many local shows.

Travis Redmond of Mohton took the reserve champion ram title with his Shropshire champion ram and also had the champion ewe in that breed.

Other breed winners included Alexandra Lauffer who showed the champion Romney ewe and ram, and Radell Peters who showed the champion Dorset ram and ewe and the hampion Jacobs ewe.

Jenniffer Zimmerman's Southdown breed caught the judge's eye again. Last week it was her Southdown ewe that was named champion over all breeds at the Ephrata Fair and this week at the New Holland Show, it was the reserve ewe over all breeds. Her Southdown ram was named champion over all breeds.

Bucks County Stages 4-H Lamb Roundup

Her 128-pound purebred Suffolk lamb was purchased at the auction by Worthington Racing Stables of Langhorne for $450.

Tim Miller of Pennsburg had the reserve champion. First National Bank of Newtown paid $385 for Tim's 140-pound Suffolk lamb.

In all, 25 4-H members showed and sold their project lambs. The sale averaged $225/head with the champions and $208/head when the champions weren't included. The judge was Greg Snyder of Lancaster.

Tim Miller of Pennsburg had the reserve champion at the Bucks County 4-H Lamb Roundup. With Tim is Mary Lou Schaffer of the First National Bank of Newtown, who paid $385 for the lamb.

Janet Worthington of Worthington Racing Stable paid $450 for the grand champion lamb at the Bucks County 4-H Lamb Roundup. Tracy Kimbel of Jamison showed her 128-pound Suffolk to the championship. It was Tracy's second grand champion in the last three years.

BUCKS COUNTY MARKET LAMB ROUNDUP RESULTS

Heavyweight Lambs (124-140 lb.): 1. Tracy Kimbel, 2. Tim Miller, 3. Laura Miller.

Conservation Commission Names Advisory Board Members

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Five members of the State Conservation Commission's Nutrient Management Advisory Board have been re-appointed by the Commission to serve three-year terms.

"Board members are selected to represent specific areas of agriculture and the community, and bring broad expertise and experience to the work of the Board," according to Karl Brown, executive director for the Commission.

Re-appointed were:

Eugene Billhime, Montour County, local government representative;

Donald L. Bollinger, Lebanon County, meat/poultry producer;

Bobby R. Jones, Union County, commercial agricultural lender;

Mary Lehman, Cumberland County, citizen representative;

and Charles F. Ramberg Jr., University of Pennsylvania, veterinary nutrition specialist.

Others serving on the board include:

William Ebel, Lancaster County, non-farmer;

Lawrence D. Hepner Jr., Delaware Valley College;

Jerrald R. Hollowell, Susquehanna River Basin Commission, hydrologist;

Irk A. McConnell, Washington County, livestock producer;

Ronald L. Meck, Lancaster County, egg/poultry producer; and Dennis Zimmerman, Snyder, County, swine producer.

George Robinson, Snyder County, feed industry representative;

The board reviews and comments on all Commission regulations as they are developed to implement the provisions of the Nutrient Management Act.

Officials Kick Off KILE

Gallagher was born in Chester County and grew up with a love of horses that continued throughout his life. He died unexpectedly in 1991 while at the Pennsylvania State Farm Show.

At the time, he was serving as coordinator of the Animal Science Extension Program in the Penn State University College of Agricultural Sciences and was involved in the planning for the founding of the Pennsylvania Center for Integrated Therapy and in a study to measure the economic impact of the equine industry to Pennsylvania. (It is considerable.)

A profile of Gallagher's accomplishments were published last week in Lancaster Farming, as well were the presentation of youth awards, also presented during the opening ceremonies.

Cathy Stewart and KILE co-chairman Harry Bachman presented the awards to the youth. FFA winners were Michelle Cornman, of Carlisle and Luke Zerby of Beavertown. 4-H award winners were Jessica Abel, of Creekside, and Michael Fedor, of Palmerton.

Harry Bachman also gave a "Year of the Swine" presentation, with examples of each breed of swine displayed in the Small Arena show ring while Bachman discussed the breeds and there individual characteristics.

Charles Itle, show manager, and Beverly Gruber, KILE executive secretary, gave an update on KILE, discussing the growth of the show.

While the KILE actually began Oct. 2 and ends Oct. 7, the official opening ceremony is held into the event.

KILE is recognized nationally as a showcase for the nation's top beef cattle, swine, sheep and horses. Livestock breeders from 32 states and Canada are represented.

Increased interest in horse events has lead to an ever-increasing show program. It is now to six days.

There are about 900 draft horses, 13 8-horse teams, and a qualifying event for the North American Six Horse Hitch Class Series, where contestants attempt to earn points for qualification in the national event in Florida.

An Appaloosa show and Haflinger show were held Wednesday, while a quarter horse show is to be held Sunday, Oct. 6.

Hundreds of collegiate, FFA and 4-H students enter junior livestock judging and stockman contests.

Almost every commercial breed of beef cattle, sheep and swine are represented in contests, while there are many youth contests and activities scheduled.

The expanded KILE offers $200,000 in premiums and there are more than 4,400 entries.

There are also commercial exhibits and entertainment, as well as food booths from various state commodity groups.

National DHIA Announces Scholarship Program

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The National Dairy Herd Improvement Association is announcing a scholarship program to benefit DHIA employees or members of DHIA, or the children of employees or members of DHIA.

This National Scholarship program was presented at the 1996 Leadership Conference held in San Diego, and received an enthusiastic response. A committee was formed and plans were made. The Affiliate Presidents were asked to donate items to be auctioned during the National DHIA Annual Convention. The response was overwhelming and the scholarship program was a reality.

Those atending a four-year program will receive $1,000, and $500 will be awarded to those attending other educational programs. The recipients of this year's scholarships will be announced at the 1997 DHIA Annual Convention being held in Albuquerque, New Mexico, and will be awarded annually thereafter. Applicants will be evaluated on the basis of scholastic abilities, and leadership in school and community activities.

Applications can be obtained from the National DHIA office by phoning 614-890-3630, faxing 614-890-3667 or writing to Scho-

The "no-name" wether helped Nicole garner her first market championship at the Reading Fair.

Nicole, 17, daughter of Dawn and Theodore Knepp, Mohnton, is a senior at Governor Mifflin High School. She said she purchased the lamb from Paul Wissinger.

Reserve champion went to Jill Neiman for her middle heavyweight Dorset-Suffolk cross.

Beaver Fair Holds Livestock Show

BEAVER SPRINGS (Snyder Co.) — The Area Youth Livestock Sale was held on Sept. 19 here at the Beaver Community Fair.

4-H and FFA Members offered nine meat pens of rabbits, nine single fryer rabbits, 18 market lambs, 62 market hogs, and nine market steers for sale. The grand total of the sale was $29,470.

Lance Herman sold the grand champion meat pen of rabbits for $100 to Best Marts. The reserve champion meat pen, sold by Julie Minium, was purchased by Clarence Shirk of the Middleburg Livestock Auction for $55. Nine pens of rabbits sold averaged $48.33.

Larissa Baney's grand champion single fry was purchased by Melanie Garman-Shaffer Insurance for $90. Beaver Springs Auto Parts paid $50 for Lance Herman's reserve champion fryer. Nine single fryer rabbits averaged $45.

The grand champion market lamb was sold by Luke Zerby. Bowersox Livestock of Winfield purchased the 81-pound lamb for $250. Melanie Garman-Shaffer Insurance paid $300 for George Etzler's 95-pound reserve champion. A total of 18 market lambs averaged $175.83 per head.

The grand champion market lamb sold for $250 to Bowersox Livestock of Winfield. Luke Zerby is exhibitor and Tim Hall, left, is the judge.

Michele Fetterolf sold her 254-pound crossbred market hog to Best Marts for $600. Rayauda's Restaurant purchased George Etzler's reserve champion hog, also a crossbred, for $350. The 62 market hogs sold averaged $218.79 per head.

ADC Members Eligible For $500 Conservation Projects

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — Members of the Atlantic Dairy Cooperative living in southeastern Pennsylvania are eligible for grants of $500 to implement projects on their properties that prevent pollution of runoff water and ultimately protect water quality and the Chesapeake Bay.

The funds are being made available through the Dairy Network Partnership, a coalition of founding partners ADC, Rodale Institute, the Pennsylvania Association for Sustainable Agriculture, the Chesapeake Bay Foundation, Penn State University, and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Lori Sandman is project leader for the Dairy Network Partnership.

"This is the first time the Dairy Network Partnership has offered grants for direct implementation of stewardship practices on farms," she said. "The 10 mini grants available to dairy farmers are for projects that will provide economic benefits as well as improve water quality. We will provide technical support to ensure all projects are completed to the farmers' satisfaction."

Leon Weber, the on-farm coordinator for the partnership, said the project proposals are to be considered and approved on a first-come basis.

According to the news release made recently, project proposals will have to be made quickly. Proposals should be submitted no later than Oct. 7, 1996.

For more information, call Weber at (610) 683-1401.

According to recent news release, three different types of projects are to be considered for funding.

One catagory of projects that could receive $500 support funding are those that involve protection of waterways on members' farms.

These would include such constructions as streambank fencing, stream crossings, streambank plantings with trees and shrubs, and alternative watering systems.

Another catagory of projects are those that would aid in establishing a rotational system for exercise lots and would include such activities as the establishment of vegetative cover and fencing for rotational lots.

A third catagory of projects for funding would be those that would help establish a grazing program, such as establishing pasture, upgrading cattle lanes, installing fencing for paddocks, and putting in watering systems.

State Officials Cut Ribbon

To help combat that concern, the state created the Pennsylvania Animal Diagnostic Laboratory System (PADLS). PADLS is a tripartite system utilizing the reference sources, research techniques, and facilities of the state Department of Agriculture, the Pennsylvania State University and the University of Pennsylvania.

The goal of PADLS is to provide pathology and clinical pathology services such as necropsy, histopathology, immunohistochemisty, poultry pathology, clinical chemistry, hematology and aquacultural pathology; bacteriology and mycology work such as detecting and identifying bacteria and fungi, working with Lyme disease, DNA probes, serotyping of E. coli bacteria (especially important with new regulations concerning slaughter and meat packing), and Salmonella testing; and virology, such as isolating and identifying viruses, using electron microscopy, and studying transmission.

According to Dr. Sherbyn Ostrich, of Robesonia, the interim director of the state Animal Health and Diagnostic Commission, while partial accreditation has been received by the state, the completion of the new state diagnostic laboratory puts the state in position to receive full accreditation. He said he expects to seek a review in the second quarter of 1997.

While completion of the laboratory was one of the provisions of the partial accreditation given by the accrediting organization — the American Association of Veterinary Laboratory Diagnosticians Accreditation Committee — Ostrich said there are others.

"A second proviso was to have an animal toxicology center up and running. The Legislature in the last budget approved $400,000 to allow that to happen. That facility is to be at New Bolton Center," Ostrich said.

Ostrich said a third proviso is to have a computer system linking the three laboratory entities to the efficiency of one.

On top of the instate expertise, Ostrich said that the environment among diagnostic laboratories, departments of agriculture and universities is one of mutual support. He said to expect a sharing of technology and expertise from around the country — from Cornell University to Ames, Iowa, to California and Texas — so that Pennsylvania may seek additional expertise or special tests that have been developed elsewhere to help solve immediate problems here.

"There are no secrets. We want to keep America's agriculture clean. We will always cooperate. (Other states) may also send things in for review," he said.

"With the opening of this laboratory, we will have access to state-of-the-art service throughout the commonwealth."

A delivery service has also been contracted to help animal owners, veterinarians and others with problems send samples to the Harrisburg lab or elsewhere in the tripartite for testing. Contact the PDA for more information.

Pennsylvania's new animal health diagnostic laboratory serves to house a number of laboratories and contains specimen receiving, testing and storage areas. It is a key link in the Pennsylvania tripartite animal health diagnostic system, in cooperation with research and facilities at University of Pennsylvania's New Bolton Center and Pennsylvania State University. The lab gives the state's agriculture industry an inhouse testing facility to help fulfill the requirements for export testing, and should help stimulate business, as well as the ability to help prevent the spread of disease among livestock and among people.

During the ribbon cutting ceremony, Secretary Brosius acknowledge the work done by his predecessors, making special note of efforts by former Secretary Boyd Wolff to head up and support the development of the PADLS, and to seek legislative support.

"Our diagnostic lab is an outstanding investiment in Pennsylvania's number one industry," Brosius said Monday to the large crowd under tent in front of the new laboratory.

"Of agriculture's $3.73 billion in annual cash receipts, and $40 billion in related economic activity in the commonwealth, animal agriculture is the largest and most profitable sector, representing 56 percent of farm income."

In addressing the large crowd of legislators, agricultural organization representatives, staff and PDA employees, Gov. Ridge said, "For over 300 years, agriculture has played an important role in Pennsylvania's development," Ridge said. "there is an intimate connection between Pennsylvania and agriculture. With the opening of this new lab, that connection will continue into the 21st century.

"There is little doubt it will be one of the premier laboratories in the United States," he said.

Information Alliance Created Between Northeast DHIA and Dairylea Cooperative

ITHACA, N.Y. — Northeast DHIA and Dairylea Cooperative Inc. are pleased to announce an alliance that will create an information cooperative to provide farm management information services throughout the Northeast and Mid-Atlantic regions of the United States.

According to Nel Empet, Northeast DHIA General Manager, the new cooperative will enhance the information and laboratory services available to farmers, and, at the same time, result in financial and operational efficiencies in the delivery of these services.

"This new venture is a natural fit between two organizations that are dedicated to providing services that have a positive impact on farm businesses. We are very excited about the synergies that will be created through this alliance," said Empet. "As we enter the new century, farmers are going to rely more and more on quick and accurate information regarding their farm operations. Through the new cooperative, we will construct a leading-edge information system for agriculture that will best position farmers for the challenges and changes that lie ahead."

Commenting on the alliance, Dairylea Chief Executive Officer Rick Smith said, "We are especially pleased that our two organizations will be working together to maximize resources, avoid duplication, and streamline common operating units."

The new cooperative will be overseen by a Board of Directors with representation from Dairylea and Northeast DHIA. Both organizations will continue to operate as separate entities, with farm management information and laboratory services combined into this information cooperative.

Northeast DHIA, based in Ithaca, NY, is a 3,800-member cooperative association, providing herd management and laboratory services in the nine-state area of New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island and Maine.

Dairylea Cooperative is a Syracuse-based, dairy farmer-owned agricultural cooperative with more than 2,600 member farms throughout the Northeast. It markets more than 4.5 billion pounds of milk annually and participates and is invested in a milk-marketing network stretching from Maine to Maryland to Ohio. Additionally, Dairylea provides insurances, financial services, livestock marketing and a variety of other farm service through various subsidiaries.

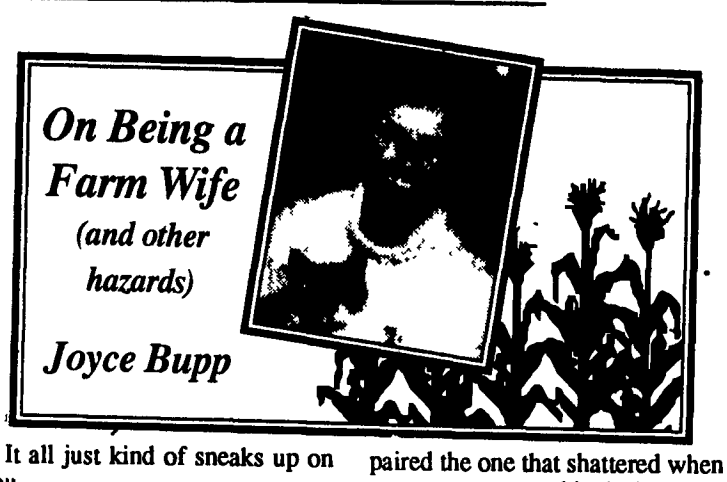
WOODS - DuAL | WOODS - ALLOWAY | WOODS - GANNON | WOODS - GILL



It all just kind of sneaks up on you.

One day you're running around in shorts and a tank top, parking yourself on the porch with a glass of iced tea at dusk to enjoy the evening's cooling down. Less than 24 hours later, you find yourself yanking the screen out of the basement window because of the chilliness there early in the morning.

A few days later, while retrieving something from the attic, you notice a brisk breeze blowing through the small windows. It takes just a few moments to slide the screens up into the winter storage position and pull down into place the double-glassed storm-window barrier.

After a stretch of cool, dreary weather, the sun jogs up over the morning horizon with a blinding burst of golden rays. You open the doors to let the sunshine in— and close it when a blast of cold gushes into the house.

So, you plod back up a couple of sets of steps to the attic and retrieve the storm windows for the front and back doors. And temporarily delay the screen-window switch while you make a trip to the hardware store to have repaired the one that shattered when a storm gust grabbed the back door and slammed it backward one afternoon in late spring. Since it was time then to put in the screens anyway, it sat there in the garage all summer.

You go into your old farmhouse, tucked in the shade of a half-dozen thick, tall trees — and find the inside cooler than the outside. You unearth a sweatshirt to wear while fixing lunch and are grateful for the heat generated in the kitchen by the oven.

The hot shower feels wonderful in the evening, but you dread turning off the water because the bathroom — like the rest of the house — is damp and chilly. You chase the chill with a fuzzy blanket and the cat on your lap while you watch the news. Eventually you abandon the warmth to crawl between chilly sheets in that unheated upstairs bedroom where you still have the window open a bit because you like the fresh air and listening to the owls hooting to one another.

So, you unearth the flannel sheets from their summer storage in the blanket chest. And when the night temperatures inch down yet a few more degrees, and even the flannel has a chill to it, you dig the electric blanket out of the closet.

Hot chocolate becomes your preferred mid-morning thirst quencher. With a marshmallow for good measure. You find yourself concocting hot soups for supper.

In the early morning darkness, you rummage in drawers for turtleneck shirts and sweaters to wear while doing barn chores. Putting on a pair of cotton gloves for getting bales of hay and straw out the barn no longer leaves your hands hot and sweaty.

Finally, one evening after an extra-long stretch of barn chores, you retreat to the house, hungry and half-damp from helping clean up the milkhouse and rounding up an uncooperative heifer. And decide that the time has come and you have to face the inevitable.

You give in — and turn on the furnace. In a few moments, warm air floods the house and magically transforms the damp and chilly to a toasty, cozy environment.

That however, enhances the pungent odor of the mouse that has died somewhere in the ceiling over the kitchen, while hunting a warm spot.

Time to winterize, folks.

The mice are already way ahead of us on this one.

Attend Apple Butter Celebration

LIVERPOOL (Perry Co.) — As the leaves change colors and the air turns cooler, a small country church starts to prepare its annual apple butter boil scheduled for Oct. 12.

About 40 miles up the Susquehanna River from Harrisburg and just a few miles back in the hills from the tiny riveride town of Liverpool sets a small red brick church known as St. John's (Barner's) Lutheran Church.

As many sleep through the midnight hours of Oct. 12, some men will put freshly pressed cider to boil over the open fires. As dawn breaks through the night sky, the first bucket of snitz (sliced apples) is added to the boiled down cider. By the time the first kettle is ready, the church grove is buzzing with activity.

The women gather to prepare the meals and set up the craft table for the 10 a.m. opening.

The annual event in the 200-year-old church includes apple butter boiling, craft table, concession stand, and a family-style pot pie dinner that costs $5 or adults and $3.50 for children. Dessert is extra.

Apple butter is boiled in antique copper kettles and is for sell on the grounds. Bring your own jars to take some home.

The church started boiling apple butter in 1952 to help with expenses. About 10 years later, the church did not need the money, but members decided to keep the event going and used the proceeds for charitable purposes outside the church.

Over the years, proceeds have been donated to local fire victims,flood victims, youth baseball teams, fire companies, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Lutheran world relief and missiong support.

Make the pilgrimage to the little red brick church that's perched atop a hill in Perry County Take Routes 11 and 15 to Liverpool. Turn left onto Route 17. About one mile from Liverpool, turn right onto Route 235. Follow the apple butter signs.

Chillers Sticks Warning

In cooperation with the US Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC), Kraft Foods, Inc. of Northfield, Ill., is announcing a voluntary in-store recall and safety advisory for approximately 678,000 sets of Chillers Sticks distributed in conection with a Jell-O instant pudding promotion. The plastic Chillers Sticks may break, presentig a choking hazard to young children.

Kraft has received 71 reports of the Chillers Sticks breaking. Kraft is not aware of any injuries. This recell is being conducted to prevent the possibility of injury.

The red or purple Chillers Sticks, measuring three inches long, are used to make frozen Jell-O Pudding treats. An outside supplier manufactured the sticks, which were packaged in sets of six. Kraft distributed the sticks nationwide through an 800-number and supermarkets from early June through mid-July 1996 as part of a promotion for Jell-O pudding.

Consumer should immediately discard the Chillers Sticks. If consumers need further information, they should call Kraft at (800) 433-9363. Kraft Foods has recalled the Chillers Sticks from store shelves and will no longer distribute the sticks.

All Jell-O Instant Pudding mix is safe and is not affected by this recall. Jell-O Instant Pudding recipes can be prepared and consumed without Chillers Sticks.

Enter Wool Sewing Competition

SOMERSET (Somerset Co.) — The Make It Yourself With Wool Pennsylvania Competition will be held at the Somerset Ramada Inn on Saturday, November 23.

The state event gives an opportunity for anyone who has sewing talent to participate in four age categories with sewing, crocheting, knitting and weaving abilities that are demonstrated in the garment they are entering to be judged.

Current fashion, fabric coordination to pattner, garment suitability to contestant, poise and presentation, as well as skill in sewing, knitting or crocheting will be observed by the judges during the judging process.

The categories are: Preteen — 12 years and under; Junior — 13 to 16 years; Senior — 17 to 24 years; Adult — 25 years and older.

Valuable prizes will be awarded including gift certificates for fabric, select pieces of name brand wool, and top quality yarn.

The state winner in Preteen will receive a Baby Lock sewing machine. The winner in Adult will receive a Baby Lock serger maching.

Pennsylvania state winners in Junior and Senior divisions will be eligible for national competition in Nashville, Tenn., on January 13-19.

The entry deadline is November 1. Entry forms are available from Barbara Shaffer, RD 1, Box 10, Hooversville, PA, 15936; Telephone (814) 754-4547, and from Marie-France Londa, 2267 Monroeville Road, Monroeville, PA 15146; Telephone (412) 829-7298.

Sponsors of the event are the Pennsyvlania Sheep and Wool Growers Association, Pennsylvania Sheep and Lamb Marketing Board, American Sheep Industry Women, American Sheep Industry Association and Baby Lock, U.S.A.

At 14-years of age Wayne Gabel delivers milk to the receiving station in Honey Brook. The milk was loaded on freight cars and taken to Philadelphia. "We got more money that way than sending our milk to the creamery," Gabel said.

100-Year-Old Reflects On A Century Of Farming

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

CAMBRIDGE (Chester Co.) — At 100 years of age, Wayne Gabel is the oldest member of the Honey Brook Township Grange.

"Not only am I the oldest member, I'm the only charter member left," said the jovial centenarian.

Gabel isn't one merely to have his name listed on the membership. He still holds the office of chaplain.

Those who pass his home near the Lancaster and Chester counties line often see Gabel working in his large garden or mowing the grass on his or his neighboring son's property.

For the last 25 years, Gabel makes his 7 a.m. morning walk to check the rain gauge mounted on a tripod in his backyard. Gabel is one of those people who keeps records for the National Weather Service. He records each day's temperature and sends a copy to Harrisburg and to the corporate headquarters in North Carolina. Sometimes, the Weather Service calls him for details on the weather in his area, which is then related on the news reports.

Despite his age, Gabel is not a tottering old man. Rather than sit and relax, he'd just as soon stand and talk with visitors or perch on the arm of the armchair "because it's not so hard to get up again."

Gabel has outlived two wives and said, "If I wouldn't be so old, I'd look for another one."

He was married to the first one for 50 years. After her death, he remarried and lived 21 years with his second wife until she died two years ago.

Two years ago, Gabel passed the eye test and physical and had his driver's license renewed.

"It's good until I'm 102," he said.

But last year, Gabel sold his car because he thought the car insurance was too high.

Gabel is a talking historian who remembers paying $7,500 for the 70-acre farm he purchased in 1928. He added another 50 acres for $100 per acre and started with 5 or 6 cows.

The cows were milked by hand until 1935, when he bought a two-unit milker.

As a member of DHIA, Gabel recalls having one of the top cows in 1952, which milked 9,970 pounds.

Corn was his biggest crop. He cut the shocks by counting six rows and seven steps to form the corn shocks.

"My daddy was sort of slow to get on machinery, but I remember the first manure spreader we got. We ordered it through the Sears Roebuck catalog," Gabel said.

Other machinery was added bit by bit. He said, "A friend bought his hay loader to our place. We tried it and bought it.

"My first corn fodder shredder ran on five horsepower. I thought that was great."

His father started a milk route in which he would park his milk wagon at set locations and housewives would come with their containers and fill them for six cents a quart for whole milk, three cents for skim milk, and six cents for a half pint of cream. The milk route was lots of work, and Gabel said that they didn't keep it up much more than a year.

"We got more for our milk there than at the Creamery," he said.

He remembers working the land with a hand plow. It was exciting for Gabel because he found many arrowheads while plowing. He now has an extensive collection of arrowheads.

Gabel's dad bought his first Model T in 1916.

"The Model T got through mud, unlike the Overlander and other early cars. We'd fly past them sitting in the mud," he recalled of the era before a driver's license was a government requirement.

Early drivers carried a tire pump and patches with them. "We got flat tires often. Tires are much better now than back then," he said.

Grover Cleveland was president when Gabel was born on Sept. 2, 1896. Since then, Gabel has lived through the terms of 15 presidents.

Although 100 years old, Gabel is often on his hands and knees working in his large garden. He sells produce to local markets and freezes some for his own use.

For a number of years, the Gabels loaded their milk cans on their wagon and took the milk to the Emery Creamery, just west of Cambridge. Here they emptied the milk cans. On the opposite side of the road was a cistern into which the skim milk was piped under the road. The empty cans were then filled with skim milk at the cistern to take along home for the hogs.

Gabel said that later he delivered the milk to the receiving station in Honey Brook, where freight cars took the milk to Philadelphia.

He was graduated from Twin Valley in 1914, the only male student in a class of five.

Gabel recalls the days before rural delivery. He'd walk to the post office two mornings a week to pick up the mail.

"The store opened at 9 a.m., and the boys and men would gather to hear the news," he said.

In 1966, Gabel sold his farm and moved to the house he built on his farm.

He sells produce from his garden to local markets. He also freezes his own corn and beans. He enjoys making wooden wind vanes, but doesn't have a big enough market to use up his stockpile of them.

For 24 years, Gabel was a school board member. He's also been a Fire Company member. He has been a member of Honey Brook United Methodist Church for 70 years. For 50 years, he's been a mason of the Howell Lodge.

Although Gabel said that all his friends his age have died off, he still receives more mail than any other person on the route, according to the local mail carrier. This week the local post office celebrated its 100 year anniversary and commemorated it by deliving Gabel's mail in a horse and carriage.

Gabel's advice for long life is "Don't drink and don't smoke and stay home with your woman."

He said that about 25 years ago he had pain in his head. His doctor told him to keep away from fat.

"I've been keeping away from fat and feeling good ever since," he said.

(Turn to Page B5)

Gabel's advice for long life is 'Don't drink and don't smoke and stay home with your woman.'

Neighbor Henry Zimmerman admires the weather vanes that Gabel makes from wood.

About a year ago, Gabel invested in a riding mower instead of using a walk-behind mower. Now he mows both his and his son's bordering property.

Ten Ways To Raise A Little Monster

Everywhere you look, there is a test you can take to determine how skilled you are at doing something. When you're all finished with the test, you are able to tell if you either are a super person, just so-so, or need so much help that you need to send away for a self-help book!

Most tests focus on building positive relationships, but here is one with a different approach; a test to figure out "If You Are Raising A Little Monster."

All you need to do is read over the following 10 questions and write down how many times you could response "yes."

1. Do you use words like "clumsey," "slow," or other names to describe your child?

2. Do you find yourself growling or saying "shut up" at your child on a regular basis?

3. Do you talk badly about your child in front of the neighbors or your child's friends?

4. Do you criticize what your child does, especially when you feel he or she could have done better?

5. Are you busy doing other things while your child tries to tell you something?

6. Do you jump in and take over for your child because you can do it better or faster?

7. Do you make fun of or call your child names when he or she has a personal accident?

8. Do you talk "rough," "mean," or just plain rudely to your child?

9. Do you yell or scream at your children if they don't act as quickly as you think they should?

10. Do you find yourself punishing your child before you find out his or her side of the story?

What is your score? If you answered yes to five or more questions, congratulations, you are on your way to raising a little monster! If you think life with your two, three, or four-year-old isn't easy, watch out, because life will be getting a lot more difficult.

Now, every parent is guilty of doing all of these things at one time or another. But, as a parent, it is important that you realize that doing several of these behaviors on a regular basis can have a direct impact on a child's self-esteem. Children who are exposed to name calling, humiliation, yelling, and inappropriate punishment will generally act out with bad behaviors. This negative approach, if continued, can result in having a more rebellious child.

Toddlers and pre-schoolers are great copy cats. They learn how to act from watching others, especially their parents. They will use your language and behaviors with other children and adults. They model both the positive and negative behaviors.

How do you keep your child from becoming a little monster? Try sharing your time, showing interest in what your child may be doing, and listening to even their smallest concerns. Use positive statements to frame your criticisms. It is also important to put yourself in your child's place occasionally to see life from a kid's point of view.

Landis Valley Celebrates Harvest

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Harvest Days come alive at Lancaster's Landis Valley Museum complex on Saturday, October 12, 11 a.m. - 5 p.m. and October 13, noon - 5 p.m. More than 75 traditional Pennsylvania German harvest time activities, music, wagon rides, craft demonstrations home cooked food, an old-fashioned auction and other social activities will engage visitors.

The 37th annual Harvest Days is one of Lancaster County's finest festivals. Celebrating the farming traditions and crafts of the Pennsylvania German heritage, this event showcase historical customs from 1750-1900. The largest Pennsylvania German museum in the country, Landis Valley is rated by AAA.

Additional highlights include the "Old-Fashioned Auction" of handmade wares on Saturday, October 12 at 4:45 p.m.; lively music featuring The Lancaster Co. Folk Music and Fiddlers' Society; and the special appearances of "Aunt Fanny" spelling audiences with her authentic Pennsylvania German humor. The popular horse-drawn wagon rides are sure to capture everyone's fancy.

The Heirloom Seed Project offers gardeners the opportunity to purchase heritage seeds and the Seed Catalog or discuss heirloom seeds they may want to donate to the museum. Project volunteers will also be teaching seed saving.

Harvest Days at Landis Valley appeals to all ages. An admission is charged — $7 for adults, $6 for ages 60+ and $5 for ages 6-12. The fee includes entrance to the entire museum. No discounts or coupons for admission are honored during the event. Most demonstrations are under cover; the event takes place rain or shine.

The museum is located 2.5 miles NE of Lancaster on Route 272/Oregon Pike, a marked exit off Route 30 and Route 222.

"I don't eat much sweets — candy occasionally," he said.

"I cook noodles for my dog," he said.

Although Gabel enjoys recalling the past, he doesn't lament the passing of time. His neighbor, Henry Zimmerman, said, "Wayne has a positive attitude toward life and change. I think that's what keeps him young."

Pork's Getting Leaner And Better

Pork is getting thinner and healthier.

Improvements in the breeding and feeding of pigs result in a leaner pig. In addition, retailers are trimming fat from pork cuts so that people are getting more lean meat for their dollar.

Three ounces of roasted, boneless, trimmed pork tenderloin has 133 calories, 4 grams of fat, 1.4 grams unsaturated fat and 67 milligrams of cholesterol compared to a skinless, roasted chicken breast, which as 140 calories, 3 grams fat, and 72 milligrams of cholesterol.

More fresh pork cuts are available in the supermarket that fit into a healthy diet than there used to be. Carefully select the leanest meat — loin cuts are lowest in fat. Trim any removable fat that is left, control portion sizes to 4 to 6 ounces cooked meat daily, and roast or broil meats.

PIGS IN TATERS

6 large potatoes
6 tablespoons butter
¼ cup milk
1½ teaspoon salt or to taste
Dash paprika
½ pound small sausages

Bake potatoes until soft. Slice off edge of one side of potatoes. Scoop the baked potato out of shell and place in a small bowl; set the shells aside. Mash the potatoes, add butter, milk, salt, and paprika.

Refill the potato shells with the mashed potato mixture leaving a hollow in the center.

Place sausages in the little hollow space. Place on baking sheet and return to oven.

Bake at 350 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes or until potatoes are browned and sausages are done. Serves 6.

WORKING WOMAN'S BARBECUE PORK RIBS

3 pounds country-style pork ribs
1 bottle favorite barbecue sauce

Place in crockpot. Cook on low during the day. When you return home, place ribs on a foil-covered baking sheet or jelly roll pan. Place under broiler for five to six minutes, turn and continue for another six minutes. You can baste with sauce from crock pot when broiling.

PORKETTA

3½ -4-pound boneless pork shoulder

Remove any inside pockets of fat and fill with mixture of the following:

½ cup snipped fresh parsley
2 teaspoons minced garlic
2 teaspoons dried dill weed
1 teaspoon fennel seed
1 teaspoon dried rosemary leaves, crushed
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Roll roast jelly roll fashion, Replace netting or tie with string.

Rub with a mixture of the following:

¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon coarsely ground pepper
¼ teaspoon dried dill weed

Skewer on spit and roast 35 to 45 minutes per pound or to an internal temperature of 170 degrees. Or, oven roast in 350 degree oven allowing 35 to 45 minutes per pound. Allow roast to stand for 15 minutes for easier carving. Slice and serve on hard rolls. For spicier pork, fill as directed. Refrigerate overnight and rub coating on surface just before cooking.

STUFFED CABBAGE ROLLS

Separate into leaves, trimming off the thick part of:

1 medium head cabbage

Place in boiling water and cook until tender, about 5 minutes. Bring to boil:

1 cup water

Add:

½ cup long grain rice. Simmer until all liquid is dissolved. Add:

1½ cups milk

Simmer 20 minutes or until rice is tender. Combine in medium bowl with:

½ pound sausage
½ pound ground round
1 egg slightly beaten
1½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Place 2 tablespoons filling in each cabbage leaf. Roll and secure with wooden toothpick. Brown bundles in butter and place in heavy skillet. Top with:

3 tablespoons brown sugar
1½ cups beef broth

Simmer for one hour. Remove from pan and add to drippings.

2½ tablespoons flour, dissolved in 1½ cups light cream

Simmer 5 minutes. Season with salt and pepper and serve over cabbage rolls.

For hearty one-dish meals, combine pork with vegetables, rice, or pasta.

COWBOY BARBECUED RIBS

Sauce:

1 cup water
⅓ cup butter
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
¼ cup dry mustard
¼ cup chili powder
1 tablespoon sugar
1 tablespoon paprika
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon onion powder
1 teaspoon garlic powder
¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper

Place spareribs on broiler pan. Cover with foil. Roast at 400 degrees for 1½ hours.

Meanwhile combine all sauce ingredients in medium saucepan; mix well. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat; simmer for 30 minutes. Brush sauce on ribs. Broil 5 inches from heat for 7 to 10 minutes on each side. Serve ribs with additional sauce. Makes 6 servings. Calories per serving: 724.

HAM ROYALE

1 boneless smoked fully cooked ham
½ cup jellied cranberry sauce
½ cup orange marmalade
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
½ teaspoon dry mustard
2 teaspoons lemon juice

Place ham fat side up on rack in open roasting pan. Insert roast meat thermometer so bulb is in center of thickest part of ham. Bake in 325 degree oven until thermometer registers 140 degrees (allowing 15 to 18 minutes per pound). Meanwhile combine cranberry sauce, orange marmalade, ground cloves, mustard, and lemon juice in saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally about 5 minutes. Spread ham with glaze every 10 to 15 minutes during last 30 minutes of cooking time. Let ham set about 15 minutes before carving.

PORK WELLINGTON

Coat:

4-5 inch square puff pastry squares with Braunschwieger. Wrap around 2 pork tenderloins, cut in half. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes. Square off tenderloins by tucking in tail.

For those end-of-season tomatoes, try this recipe from the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council Mid East.

Ann Cooper, executive chef of the Putney Inn, Putney, Vermont, made these tomatoes to show how using the right combination of butter, vegetables, and herbs creates satisfying taste.

Cooper was named 1955 Chef of the Year by the American Culinary Federation and is a member of the Real Butter Team, a select group of culinary masters assembled by the American Dairy Association.

BASIL STUFFED TOMATOES

3 medium tomatoes
⅔ cup saltine crackers, crushed
⅔ cup Ritz crackers, crushed
2 tablespoons fresh basil
1 teaspoon seafood seasoning, celery salt or Crab Boil
½ teaspoon paprika
⅓ cup butter, melted
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
¼ cup drained capers

Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

Core and cut tomatoes in half. Scoop out meaty portion of the tomato: chop and reserve. Place the tomatoes that will be stuffed into a baking pan. Add the remaining six ingredients of the stuffing into the bowl.

In medium bowl combine crushed crackers, reserved tomatoes and remaining ingredients. Divide stuffing among tomato halves. Place in baking dish. Bake until tomatoes are almost tender and stuffing is golden, about 15 to 20 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Who's Behind Fair Success?

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Visitors to fairs seldom think about all the behind the scenes work that goes into making a fair successful. Hundreds of people volunteer not only during the week of the fair but sometimes months. Here are a few of the hundreds who do a great job in making the Solanco Fair in Quarryville a success.

It is not unusual to find volunteers such as Ruth Clark and Anna Jane Glisson, both of Quarryville, who have served on committees for more than 25 years.

Esther Herr of Quarryville is an example of a person who plays a dual role in fair success. For 26 years, she has been rolling out dough for the pot pie dinners served at the fair. Throughout the year, she works on needlework projects to enter in competition.

Esther Herr of Quarryville won blue ribbons for her hand embroidered quilt and matching pillow shams and two doilies. She has entered her handiwork at the Solanco Fair for 10 years and wins either first or second ribbons every time. For 26 years, she has been rolling out pot pie for the meals served at the annual Fair.

Tallying the results of needlework entries at the Solanco Fair, from left, are Ruth Clark Quarryville; Anna Jane Glisson, Quarryville; and Nancy Wimer, Kirkwood. Not only do they keep records of each entry but also cover the tables with paper to display the items, arrange the exhibits attractively, make the attached signs, and cover the items with clear plastic to protect the display. Clark and Glisson have been on the needlework committee for 26 years.

If you are looking for a recipe but can't find it, send your recipe request to Lou Ann Good, Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send an SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible. Sometimes we receive numerous answers to the same request, and cannot print each one.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address.

QUESTION — Thomas Martin, Strasburg, writes that he is looking for several recipes clipped from this column several years ago and then misplaced. One is a recipe for frozen strawberry yogurt, which combine yogurt and strawberry Jell-O. Another is for Banana Whoopie Pies. Did anyone clip the recipes to which he is referring?

QUESTION — Chaney Alulis, Philadelphia, has questions about funnel cakes. She wants to know if there is a book in print about funnel cakes? Are funnel cakes called by a different name in other areas? How did the concept of funnel cakes began? Are there different recipes for funnel cakes?

QUESTION — Julia Johnson, Howard, would like a recipe for a cake called Bee Sting.

QUESTION — An anonymous person asks for a recipe for tomato butter. She had never heard of it, but her husband ate it as a child about 65 years ago. He said it was a little spicy as he recalled. She asks if she can cook it down in a crock pot; should it be put through a food mill?

QUESTION — Lou Ann Pyle of Wilmington, Delaware, is looking for a recipe for Italian Cuccidata cookies.

QUESTION — Georgia P. Harding of Smithsburg, Maryland, is looking for a recipe for Oatmeal Pie. She also asks what spice or combination of spices can be used as substitutes when recipes call for nutmeg. Since allspice and pumpkin pie spice both contain nutmeg, they are not options.

QUESTION — Donald Love would like recipes for fried pies, Montgomery pie, and Rosy Red Apple Pie that uses ketchup as one of the ingredients.

QUESTION — Anna Bryan, Oxford, N.J., would like a recipe for Italian Spaghetti Sauce made from fresh tomatoes to freeze. She also asks if it can be canned with sausage and meatballs.

QUESTION — Mrs. Perma Kemmerer, Danielsville, would like a recipe for Amish Friendship cake.

QUESTION — Chloe Zemek, Johnson City, N.Y., wants a recipe for apple brandy jelly.

QUESTION — A faithful New York reader would like a recipe for grilled chicken breast that tastes like that served by Shady Maple on Thursdays.

QUESTION — Shirley Lilley, Baltimore, Md., would like a recipe for gingerbread square cupcakes and frosting (a dollop on top of each) such as marketed by Valley Pride Bakery each fall season and sold in the Chambersburg area.

QUESTION — E.J. Beaver would like different methods for cooking trout.

QUESTION — Yvonne Musser, Lancaster, said she would like a recipe for buttermilk salad like they serve at Akron Restaurant in Akron.

QUESTION — Christine Ayers of Clarks Summit would like a recipe for apple cider doughnuts.

ANSWER — With winter coming soon, Shirley Wimer of Harrisonburg, Va., writes that this is a good recipe to have on hand for the flu season.

Winter Time Tea

1½ cups sugar
1 cup Tang
½ cup instant tea
⅛ teaspoon ground cloves
¼ teaspoon cinnamon

Mix ingredients together well. When ready to serve, add two tablespoons of mixture to a cup of boiling water.

ANSWER — Dixie Fix, Harrisonville, wanted recipes using stuffing tomatoes. Thanks to Stan's Kitchen for sending a recipe, which he writes is a meal in a tomato — for luncheon or Sunday supper. He's combined bacon, mushrooms, and spinach and baked it in a tomato. May also be served with a side vegetable with a herb omelet. Makes 4 portions.

Baked Stuffed Tomatoes

4 ripe tomatoes
6 fresh mushrooms, trimmed
4 slices thick bacon, cut into 1-inch pieces
2 shallots, peeled and minced
10-ounces fresh spinach, well rinsed and trimmed
2 tablespoons plus 2 teaspoons dried bread crumbs
½ teaspoon salt
Freshly ground black pepper, to taste
4 teaspoons unsalted butter

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Lightly oil a small baking sheet, and set aside.

Slice off the top quarter of each tomato, and set the tops aside. Using a melon baller, scoop out the centers of two of the tomatoes, leaving a shell, and place the pulp in a medium-size mixing bowl. Scoop out and discard the pulp of the remaining two tomatoes or save it for another use. Invert the tomato shells onto paper towels to drain.

Cut the mushrooms in half, and slice them ¼ -inch thick. Set them aside.

Cook the bacon in a skillet over low heat until crisp, about 10 minutes. Using a slotted spoon, transfer the bacon to paper towels to drain. Pour off all but 2 tablespoons of the fat in the skillet.

Add the shallots and mushrooms to the skillet, and cook over medium heat until golden, 10 minutes. Using a slotted spoon, add them to the tomato pulp in the bowl.

Shake the excess water from the spinach, add it to the skillet, and wilt over low heat, 4 to 5 minutes. Drain the spinach, pressing out as much moisture as possible. Chop it coarsely and add it to the bowl.

Stir 2 tablespoons of the bread crumbs, the salt and pepper into the spinach mixture. Toss well.

Using a paper towel, gently pat dry the inside of the tomato shells. Spoon the spinach mixture loosely into the shells, and sprinkle each one with ½ teaspoon of the remaining bread crumbs. To each with one teaspoon butter.

Arrange the tomatoes on the prepared baking sheet and place the tops alongside, cut side down. Bake until the crumbs are golden and the tomatoes are cooked through but still firm, 25 minutes.

ANSWER — Stan's Kitchen, Dallas, sends a recipe for pumpkin fudge, which Donald Love had requested.

Old-Fashioned Pumpkin Fudge

2 cups sugar
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
1 tablespoon mashed cooked pumpkin
⅓ cup sweetened condensed milk
⅓ cup milk
¼ teaspoon pumpkin pie spice
Salt to taste
2 tablespoons butter
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
2 drops orange food coloring (optional)

Combine sugar, corn syrup, pumpkin, condensed milk, pumpkin pie spice, and salt in saucepan; mix well. Bring to a boil over medium high heat; reduce heat. Cook to 238 degrees on candy thermometer, soft-ball stage, stirring occasionally. Cool slightly. Stir in butter until melted. Add vanilla and food coloring. Beat until mixture is creamy and loses its luster. Spread into 5x9-inch dish lined with buttered foil. Let stand until cool and firm. Cut into squares. Yield: 45 squares.

ANSWER — Laurie Woodrick, Belle Mead, N.J., writes that about five years ago, a recipe for Oil and Vinegar Jalapeno Pickles appeared in this paper, which she thought are the best she ever tasted. She misplaced the recipe and requested a copy. We haven't received any answers other than this one, which doesn't include oil, from Stan's Kitchen. Does anyone have a recipe that includes oil and vinegar?

Perfect Pickled Jalapenos

11 sliced Jalapenos
24 ¼ -inch carrots, sliced
12 pearl onions, peeled
12 bay leaves
2 cups white vinegar
2 cups water

Combine vinegar and water in an enamel pot and bring to a boil. Almost fill hot sterile jars with jalapeno rings. Add 2 carrot slices, an onion, and bay leaf to each jar. Add boiling liquid to each jar, fill to within ½ -inch of top. Seal and process in boiling water bath for 10 minutes. Yield: makes 12 one-half pint jars.

ANSWER — Some time ago, Ruth Erb, Beavertown, requested a recipe for the brandy syrup starter for Rometoph Friendship Cake. Thanks to Doreen Schuman, Denton, Md., for sending the recipe, which requires 15 days before it is ready to use.

Friendship Starter
Fruit Method

Strain juice from:
1 large can peaches
1 large can crushed pineapple
1 jar maraschino cherries
¾ cup granulated sugar

Mix and measure juice to make 1½ cups (use fruit as desired in other recipes).

Put starter in covered bowl or jar; stir every day for 15 days until set. Do not refrigerate during this time.

Pork

SAUSAGE SOUFFLE

1 pound bulk sausage
10 slices bread
6 eggs
1 cup grated sharp cheese
3 cups milk
1 teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon oregano

Fry sausage and drain. Tear bread into cubes and place in 9x13-inch pan. Beat eggs, and add milk, cheese, seasoning, and sausage. Pour over bread cubes. Sprinkle parsley on top. Bake at 350-400 degrees for one hour. May be mixed the evening before and set in the refrigerator. In the morning, put it into the oven and bake as directed. Breakfast will be ready when you come in from the barn.

DIJON-ORANGE CHOPS

1 pound boneless pork loin chops
Lemon-pepper OR seasoned salt
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
⅓ cup orange juice
1½ tablespoons Dijon-style mustard
1 tablespoon honey
2 teaspoons cornstarch

Sprinkle surface of chops with desired seasoning. Heat oil in heavy skillet over medium-high heat. Brown chops, about 3 minutes per side. Combine remaining ingredients. Pour mixture over chops. Cover, reduce heat to medium-low and simmer 8-10 minutes. Remove chops to serving platter.

Serves 4.

PORK POOR BOY

1 pound boneless pork loin roast
Coarsely ground black pepper
½ pound alfalfa sprouts
1 ripe avocado, peeled, sliced
1 cucumber, sliced thinly
1 ripe tomato, sliced
4 ounces fresh spinach leaves
1 green pepper, seeded, sliced
1 pound loaf French or Italian bread
4 tablespoons bottled Italian dressing

Rub roast with coarsely ground pepper, place in shallow roasting pan. Roast, uncovered, at 325 degrees for 45 minutes to one hour, until meat thermometer registers 155-160 degrees. Remove from oven and let roast rest for 10 minutes before slicing. Slice bread lengthwise. Build sandwich by layering sandwich ingredients in desired order, and sprinkle with dressing.

PORK STEAKS ITALIANO

2 pork blade steaks, cut ¾ -inch thick
⅓ cup Italian dressing
¾ teaspoon prepared mustard
⅛ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper

Place pork steaks on rack in broiler pan or on grill over ash-covered coals so surface of meat is 4 to 5 inches from heat. Broil at low to moderate temperate 30 minutes, turning once. combine Italian dressing, mustard, salt, and pepper. Brush steaks with sauce and continue broiling 10 to 15 minutes or until done, brushing with sauce several times. 4 servings.

Time With Toddlers

Oh how I love being "Aunt Becca."

This past month I had the chance to spend time with two of my nieces, one who is two years old and another who just celebrated her first birthday. We played and played. Isn't that what aunts and nieces are supposed to do?

Well fall is a wonderful time to explore the world with a toddler who is close to you. Now that the older children are back in school, you may find a bit more time on your hands to spend with those who are busy cruising around the coffee tables and stepping on your heels in the kitchen.

Toddlers are inquisitive. They thrive when they are given chances to explore the world around them. The youngest toddlers are just beginning to walk independently, but they love to practice this new-found skill. They are naming objects and beginning to combine words. A toddler is still not ready to group play. She is more contented playing independently around other children.

As you explore the world with the toddlers in your life, help them to develop their physical and social skills. Encourage their curiosity. Talk with them so that their language skills increase.

Here's a simple exercise that accomplishes many of these goals. Allow your toddler to take his shoes off and run in the grass. Be sure that the area is free of debris before starting. Then chant this poem together, "Up to the sky, down to the grass; Up to the sky, down to the grass; Turn around, now fall down. Boom!" As you say the poem stretch your arms high, bend to touch the grass. As you finish the poem, circle around and tumble on the grass. Toddlers may take a few practices to get the hang of this, but once they do, they'll want to do it again and again.

Each time you go outside to play, take along a small basket or lunch bag to collect nature "treasures." As your toddler spies things, have her pick them up and place them in the basket. Be sure to give each item a name and describe it. "Wow. That's a long, brown stick. It has bumps on it. It fell from this tree."

When you sit down for a break, take each treasure out of the basket and rename them. Ask your toddler for one of the treasures by name. See if she can remember its name and pick it out of the crowd. This builds a child's language and observation skills. It also teaches an early appreciation of nature.

Toddlers love sensory experiences. After your next neighborhood birthday party or shower, save the crepe paper streamers. These are wonderful outside toys for youngsters. Urge your toddler to run with a streamer in his hand. They will love the sensation of feeling the paper ripple in the air. By holding two or three different colored strips together, you add to the visual excitement. For those tots who are less mobile, simply stand and twirl a short streamer around your hand. For the really coordinated ones, hold the streamers high (or tie them to a branch), and challenge the children to jump and hit the paper. On a windy day, it's fun to simply stand near a porch railing, holding the streamer and watch it twist and twirl in the breeze.

If you're up for a workout with your two-year-old, try this jumping game. It requires strength, balance, and coordination (both yours and your toddler's). Find a box or block that is strong enough to support your child's weight. Stand her on the box and take both her hands in yours. Then call, "Ready, set, GO!" and help her jump off the box. You want your arms to be at her shoulder height so that when she lands, she's really supporting her own weight and you're just steadying her. Like most toddler fun, this one they'll want to do again and again.

When you finally come back inside and need to calm down (or for those grayer days) be sure to have lots of toddler friendly toys around like push-pull toys, stacking blocks, large spools, simple puzzles, sturday picture books, a pounding bench, and a play telephone. With these supplies and quick ideas, your time with toddlers is sure to be rewarding.

Undefeated Bicycle Champ Scores Again

TIMONIUM, Md. — Brian G. Roberts, 15, of Pleasantville (Washington/Frederick counties) won the senior championship by a landslide in 4-H bicycle competition held August 24 on opening day of the Maryland State Fair in Timonium. There were 57 contestants in the three age brackets.

Robert Currier, 18, of Florence (Howard County) placed second in the senior contest. Daniel Dell, 13, of Finksburg, a Baltimore County 4-H member, was the Intermediate-age champion, with Jason Blades, 13, of Trappe (Talbot County) a close second.

Brian Brubach, 11, of Gamber (Carroll County) won the junior contest, narrowly defeating 10-year-old Jacquelyn Roderick of Walkersville (Frederick County).

Brian Roberts is no stranger to the winner's circle in the state 4-H bicycle contest. He is undefeated in this event, capturing the intermediate-age championship in 1993 and the junior championship in 1991. This makes him the first Maryland 4-H member ever to win all three age group championships in the state contest.

As senior champion, Brian is eligible to represent Maryland in bicycle competition during the National 4-H Engineering, Science and Leadership Event scheduled September 22-24 at Purdue University in West Lafayette, Ind., and the Tippecanoe County fairground across the Wabash River in Lafayette, Ind.

He also won the state 4-H aerospace contest held earlier this summer and could have represented Maryland in that category at the Purdue University event.

Brian is the third member of his family to win the Maryland senior 4-H bicycle championship. His brother, Shawn, now 17, won in 1994, and his sister, Erin, now 20, won in 1991. Both went on to win national championships in 4-H bicycle competition.

The Roberts family teen-agers live in southeast Washington County; but they were members of the Petersville 4-H club in Frederick County. In addition to bicycle competition, they are enthusiastic participants in the 4-H and FFA goat show each year at the Maryland State Fair.

Two younger family members show promise of continuing the Roberts family winning tradition in state 4-H bicycle competition. Tara Roberts, 12, won the junior contest in 1993 and the intermediate-age contest in 1995. Her brother, Kevin, 10, was the junior winner last year.

Hammercreek Exotics set up a display at the Ephrata Fair where children could become acquainted with different kinds of animals and fowl. These Silkies delight children of all ages.

Kids At The Fair

Brittany Hurst, 3, cuddles a rabbit at the Ephrata Fair. Brittany is the daughter of Randy and Sandy Hurst of Ephrata.

Like most of the visitors to the Ephrata Fair, 4-year-old Chase Martin walks around sipping on a drink. He is the son of William and Kim Martin of Lititz.

For the first time, Marissa, 6, and Jacob, 2, attend the Kimberton Fair, but they plan to be back. The children of Lawrence and Cassandra Gribb of Pottstown love ice cream.

Ag In The Classroom Honoree Says Relationship With Students Is A Partnership

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

CENTRAL CITY (Somerset Co.) — "I consider my relationship with my pupils a partnership. I teach them and they teach me," said Celeste Meck.

The Shade-Central City School District teacher of fourth, fifth and sixth grade science was recently honored for her Ag in the Classroom curriculum, by the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau's Young Farmer and Rancher Committee.

In being awarded honorable mention, Meck received $250 worth of materials to enhance her Ag in the Classroom ideas.

Celeste Meck of the Shade-Central City School District was awarded honorable mention for her Ag in the Classroom curriculum.

Nikki Dohner from the Milton Hershey School in Hershey, Dauphin County, received the Outstanding Teacher award at the same time.

"On the one hand I was real surprised, but on the other hand, I wasn't because we had done a lot in agriculture," said Meck who had attended the 1995 workshop at Penn State.

Interestingly, albeit coincidentally, Shade's school district that year began block scheduling classes for its intermediate grades. The trial was to last three years.

Each of language arts, mathematics and science-health were set for 80-minute blocks with appropriate breaks.

For Meck the timing was ideal. In 80 minutes there would be time for all kinds of imaginative lessons using the techniques and knowledge from her summer experience.

Walk into her classroom (Don Barta co-teaches and the aide is Ruth Weaver), and you feel the energy pulsating — the energy of a teacher who believes in her calling to expand the seeking minds of the young children who pass under her influence.

It's hard to imagine boredom becoming a problem in this classroom when Meck is serving up a fresh idea.

She says that the workshop really heightened her awareness of agriculture. "I learned a lot at Ag in the Classroom. Growing up I thought agriculture was raising a garden and chickens and so forth," she said.

"I found it's much broader. Agriculture is in everything," she said, enthusiastically.

To help her pupils also understand, she invited a local farmer to demonstrate sheep shearing, let them see wool spinning, planted a tree on Arbor Day and took field trips.

During their studies on nutrition, Meck video taped the children's buttermaking experiment. Not only were they educated, but later, watching a replay of their own work was highly entertaining and fun, besides enhancing their powers of observation.

Meck makes her opportunities count. One advantage is having a daughter who lives in Southampton County, Virginia, where Meck can latch on to peanut and cotton plants form nearby growers of them.

With these "visuals" — one potted and the other in a box — the teacher told her pupils that two words sum up what agriculture is — "food" and "fiber."

"Agriculture is anything to do with food and fiber," she stated, opening the lesson with a discussion about that morning's breakfast and the fact that everybody was wearing clothes, to illustrate her meaning.

She continued, explaining that the peanuts actually grow under the ground but their plant is above the ground.

"Peanuts are called 'goober peas,' and cotton is called 'white gold'," she told them.

Next came the Healthy Food Snack Company. The children, seated by fours at their desks, lettered off — A, B, C, D — and the A's formed a factory assembly line behind the long table.

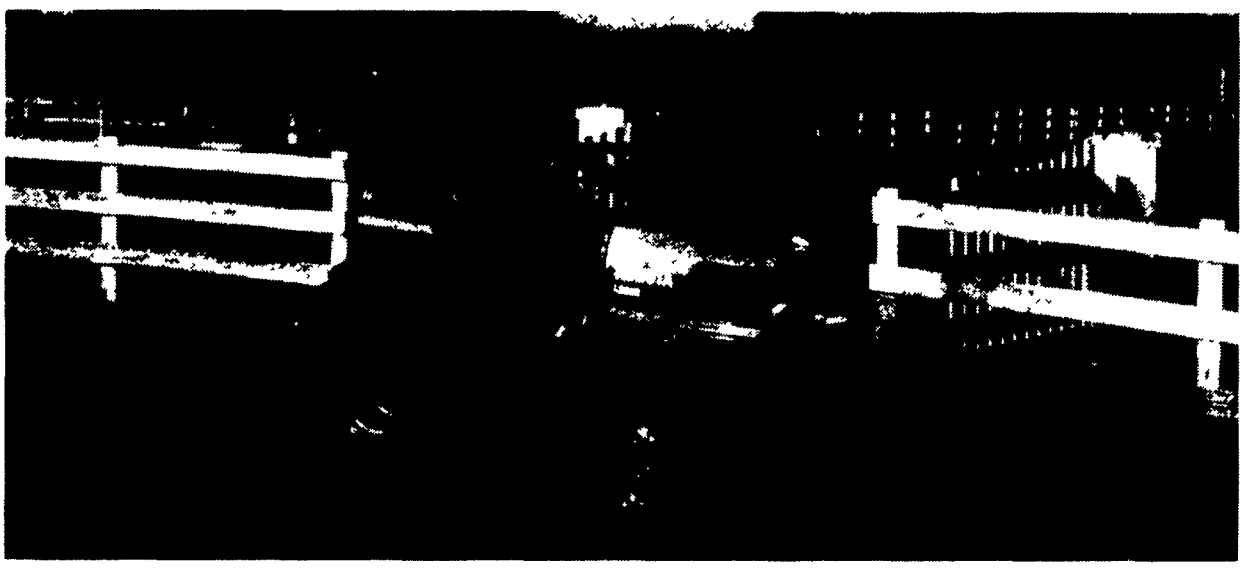
Each wore a card to correspond with the job being done. Foreman, plate separator, date stamper, celery provider, peanut butter spreader, raisin counter, raisin placer, quality control inspector, packer, delivery man, custodian, and the advertisers. Consumers were those who chose to eat the snack, or the B, C, and D kids.

A few lessons on courtesy were also inserted, such as don't begin eating until all have been served, then everybody should eat at the same time.

Meck was amazed how easily agriculture fit into all subjects including, besides science (she also teaches fourth grade social studies), language, all types of writing, mathematics, art, and even music.

In the cafeteria the students sing the Green Bean Daily song while signing. This activity is helping the children learn how to communicate with someone who is hearing-impaired.

ANY JOB, ANY PLACE, ANY TIME



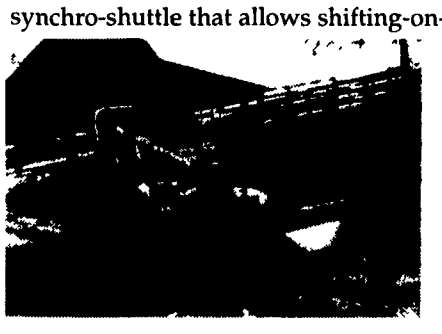
When not just any tractor will do, see the new Kubota B-Series or Grand L models at your local Kubota dealer.

Let them show you how a new B-Series, or the innovative Grand L-Series, can be the tractor for you in a variety of jobs, places or seasons.

Both the new B's and Grand L's feature Kubota's state-of-the-art E-TVCS diesel engines that deliver more power, with cleaner emissions. These tractors are designed for noticeably lower noise and vibration, while rear and mid-PTO's ensure that you will be able to use your Kubota B- or Grand L-Series tractor for all the jobs you do all year 'round.

The all new 13-18 PTO HP B-Series models give you bigger tractor features, in a compact tractor size. 2 or 4WD, power steering, optional Bi-Speed turn and hydrostatic transmission. The new sleek design enhances operator visibility and ease of operation, without sacrificing the rugged dependability you expect from a Kubota.

The Grand L-Series has a choice of transmissions: the new fully synchronized main transmission with synchro-shuttle that allows shifting-on-the-go through the 4 main gears, or the new GST (Glide Shift Transmission) which allows shifting-on-the-go through all 8 speeds. Both run smoothly and efficiently with the new larger diameter capacity clutch. A roomy operator deck is ISO-mounted to greatly reduce vibration. Tilt wheel, power steering and high back seat add to operator comfort.



Take a look today at Kubota's new B- or Grand L-Series for any job, any place at any time!

Cider Flows From Mansfield Cider Mill For 50 Years

CAROLYN N. MOYER
Tioga Co. Correspondent

MANSFIELD (Tioga Co.) — Ah! You can almost taste the fresh cider as you walk in Case's Mansfield Cider Mill run by David and Dixie Case.

First the smell tantalizes your senses with that familiar sweet apple aroma. Next the sight of the cascading stream of fresh cider flowing from the century old press leaves you in awe as the layers of chopped apples are squeezed to get the last drop of tempting reddish-brown liquid. And finally, the taste...sweet, yet tart...just the right blend to make your tastebuds tingle.

The age-old ritual of pressing cider has been tackled by the Case family for 50 years.

"It's like anything else," said a weary David after he finished pressing the morning's supply of cider. "You get to doing it, like these guys that make maple syrup, and you don't know enough to quit."

Just like maple syrup season which is highlighted by a few short spring weeks of intense labor, several short weeks in the fall are the prime time for apple harvest and cider pressing, an equally intensive process.

First bushels of apples are picked from nearby orchards. Then they are hauled to the mill and a conveyer moves them to the upper story of the building where the apples are washed and chopped.

When the apples are properly ground, they are spread out on trays covered with "cheeses," or cloths that hold the mashed apples together. The cheeses are then folded over the apples and another layer is stacked on top. The tower of apples is then placed on the press where 144 pounds of pressure per square inch squeezes out every last drop of juice.

The cider is collected in a tank and then put through three filters to clarify the liquid. Finally it is pumped to the jugging station where each gallon container is filled to the brim with the fresh brown juice.

Then the pressed apples, called pumice, is dumped out of the cheeses and the process starts all over.

"When you open the cloths, the apples are almost dry," Dixie said. "Area people come and get it and take it up on the mountain to feed the wild animals, so there's no waste."

Each year the family presses about 20,000 to 30,000 gallons of cider. They also take in custom work and press cider for others. Depending on the juice content of the apples, you get about two to three gallons of cider per bushel of apples.

In a typical year, most of the apples that are pressed come from area orchards; however, this year, according to Dixie, the apples just aren't plentiful. In order to fill their orders the Case's have had to bring in apples from upstate New York.

A few apples come from the small orchard they maintain on their property. This year they planted 50 new Red Gala trees, a dwarf variety.

What makes the best tasting cider? Dixie loves cider made with the Northern Spy, because it's her favorite apple, but she's careful to add that the best cider is made with a mix of apples, some sweet, some tart.

"We use the apples that are in season. We're careful to use the right blend and always use at least three different kinds," Daisy explained.

It's a sticky job, but one that the family loves, according to Dixie, who married David in 1988 after each lost their mates; Dixie's husband in a logging accident, and David's wife to cancer.

This is a hobby of sorts for the family. When not squeezed in the eight-week cider making season, David sells insurance.

Dixie, who worked bank marketing for 32 years and is now retired noted, "The last few years while I was working, it was hard not to be here making cider."

Now she can devote more of her time to the shop and to managing

The brood ewes are pastured at Hartman's Limekiln Farm. The show Corriedales are kept in the two barns on the property. All 61 Corriedales are registered in Kelly's name, but she is quick to express her gratefulness to her grandmother for making it possible.

Kelly shows a spring ewe lamb at the All American held in Indiana. Although local shows are easier to win, Kelly prefers to show her Montadales at larger shows where competition is tougher. Her show circuit includes about 15 annual competitions in different states.

Who's Who In Corriedale Sheep Circles?

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LIMEKILN (Berks Co.) — In Corriedale sheep competition, Kelly Glaser is a formidable foe for any one wanting to walk away with grand champion trophies. She shows her Limekiln Farms sheep in more than 15 shows held in numerous states.

Only 15 years old, Kelly recently received a national award for excelling in showing, leadership, flock management, and community involvement.

Only one youth receives the rotating award giving annually by the National Corriedale Association at its national show held in Massachusettes this year.

The Selden Whitmore Youth Achievement Award required Kelly to write about her involvement in sheep raising, list her achievements, and submit management and production records.

The sunny, soft-spoken teen said that she owes her success to her grandmother, Ruth Hartman.

Ever since Kelly can remember, her grandmother had sheep. But Hartman said that her interest in sheep began about 15 years ago.

"I saw a kid crying at the fairgrounds because she had to sell her market lambs. So I bought them," Hartman said of the beginnings of her impressive sheep operation.

Hartman, who had no knowledge of sheep raising, overfed the two Southdown lambs until they were as wide as they were tall. "I had to butcher them, but it's the only time that I ever did that," she said.

After that, Hartman became interested in the Corriedale breed through friends from whom she buys Sicilian donkeys. She purchased a few sheep and now has 61 head of some of the finest Corriedales around.

During those early years, Kelly lived in Maryland and visited her grandmother during the summer. She adored the sheep and started showing in open shows when she was seven. She joined 4-H when she turned eight.

"At that time, we were the only breeders in the area showing Corriedales. But that's changed now. Corriedales have become more popular in the East, although they were always big in the West," Kelly said.

Corriedales are a dual purpose breed used for both wool and meat.

At Kelly's grandmother's farm, the brood ewes are pastured outside, and the show sheep are kept inside. Unlike most sheep breeders, Kelly said, she and her grandmother clean the barns every day for health reasons. The upper barn's wooden floors can be swept, but the lower barn has a gravel floor covered with straw, which requires more intensive labor to clean.

Although cleaning the barns requires two to three hours of work every day, Kelly and her grandmother believe that it is time well spent.

"Our sheep don't get foot rot and we've never had trouble with disease," Kelly said.

Their flock is exposed to transmittable diseases again and again at shows. But Limekiln Farms takes precautions by putting the sheep through a foot bath and wiping the mouths of each sheep with Clorox before returning them to the pen.

"We've been lucky," Kelly said of the flock. At a recent show, their top ram and ewe were penned next to some sheep that had a mouth disease.

Hartman oversees the birthing, which takes place in the fall and spring. An intercom systems is connected between the barn and house so that any sounds of birthing can be detected. Even so, Hartman said that she spends most nights in the barn during January, the busiest birthing time.

Last year they had 40 births during January alone and expect 60 this year.

Hartman also bottle feeds if necessary. This past year, a ewe slipped on ice and broke her back when ready to birth. Hartman made her comfortable enough to give birth and then painstaking changed the ewe's position to enable the lamb to nurse. The set up seemed to work fine for a few days, but eventually the vet insisted the ewe needed to be put to sleep.

Hartman recalls the heart rending cries of both lamb and ewe when separated. Now the lamb has grown. It's evident that the lamb is not show material, but Hartman will not separate with it.

"Doesn't she have a pretty face?" Hartman said of the bottle-fed lamb. "She'll never be big enough to show but will make a nice brood ewe."

Hartman also paid dearly to have a stomach operation on one of the prize rams. The operation was a success, and now she is hoping he will become a national champion.

"We both have our favorites and they're different. We compete against each other," Kelly said of her and her grandmother's preselection of which one they predict will catch the judge's eye in the show ring.

Kelly considers herself as having a good eye for quality sheep but admits that some that you pay the most for don't always do well.

She goes with eye appeal, since she admires black points and uniform fleece.

At open shows, Kelly prefers to have her grandmother help her rather than a fellow showman.

"My sheep know her and behave, but act terrible for strangers," Kelly said.

All the sheep are in Kelly's name. Within the last year, she acquired the flock of Hal Walker, a well-known Virginia breeder.

Kelly periodically purchased sheep from Walker. When Walker needed to sell because of his wife's health problems, he offered nine yearling ewes to Kelly and put the remainder up for sale.

"My grandmother went to pick them up and came home with 32," Kelly said.

Hartman defended her actions — sometimes attributed to her soft heart — by saying, "When I saw them and how uniform they were, I thought what a perfect flock. It's a shame to split them up."

Many people offered Hartman good money for the stylish flock, especially for Style Center Legacy, a national champion, which is now used for breeding and has produced champions. She has been offered $5,000 for Legacy offspring.

While it's easier for Kelly to garner ribbons for her prize sheep in smaller shows, she prefers the larger shows with more competition.

Kelly is also a repetitive winner in shepherd's leadline competition in this state and in others. She generally wears wool outfits that have been spun and knitted by her grandmother.

She has also won numerous best fleece awards at state and national shows.

Kelly is responsible for cleaning the pens daily and caring for her show sheep.

Kelly's schoolwork doesn't suffer although she needs to take off for numerous shows. She takes accelerated studies in every subject and has a 4.3 grade point average. She has received a Gold Eagle Award from high school for her scholastic record, plays trombone, and is a member of the National Honor Society. Kelly also on the school's softball team and a winter track member in addition to showing horses.

Pizazz is her quarterhorse throughbred that she's been showing since she was six years old. Kelly prefers eventing, which she describes is like fiqure skating and includes jumping obstacles.

In 1994, Kelly qualified for Pony Club Nationals. Her team needed to do a musical chore, which they practiced for months and were rewarded fourth place out of 100.

For years, Kelly was determined to become a veterinarian. Now she is reconsidering. "I don't know what I will do, but I like to have something related to working with animals," she said.

Kelly Glaser won the national rotating award given by the American Corriedale Association for her outstanding leadership, participation in 4-H, FFA, school, church, and community activities, in addition to a review of her record keeping of her flock.

Grandmother Ruth Hartman works tirelessly behind the spotlight. Although an intercom system connecting the house and barns help identify what's happening among the flock, Ruth spends most January nights in the barn assisting the ewes with birthing.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

Most everything in our gardens has been harvested. The tomatoes and zucchini have finally quit bearing. There are a few potoates left to be dug as they got quite weedy.

The grandchildren like the job of helping me fill a basket with new potatoes. When they spy one they can't wait until I loosen the ground but rather they dig after it with their fingers. Each one thinks it is his turn to pick it up. They like to help me because after the work is finished I give each of them a piece of candy.

Last year a groundhog continually ate off my edible soybeans. I only got 10 beans which I saved and planted this year. They were in a different garden near our house and they had an abundant crop. We eat some as green beans and others are dried and then used for baked beans. They can be cooked forever and never get mushy.

We picked our last watermelon and immediately cut it open and ate some sitting by the well. The little boys and I enjoyed spitting the seeds on the grass. It tasted better than it does at the dinner table.

Recently, Allen and I were chairmen of a Rural Youth picnic in our county. As I suggested a "catered picnic," they gave us the job of arranging for it. We engaged a pavilion in a Community Park and arranged for games and music.

The fact that next year will be our 60th reunion tells you something about the age of the people who attended. Memories were shared and also concerns about health problems. We don't seem to find enough time to just visit. As years pass, old friendships become more precious.

Cider Flows

the tours that come to the mill every year.

"We're expecting a two bus tour from Binghamton soon," said Daisy. "I just hope it doesn't rain!"

The Case family has been in the apple cider business since 1946 when Chester Case, David's father, lived in downtown Mansfield.

"At that time, he was on East Elmira Street. He started when area farmers would bring apples to him to be pressed," said Daisy. "David started helping his Dad at five years old."

When David's father died, David took over the family venture, continuing to custom press apples for area residents.

In 1973, David purchased the two-story press and moved the operation just west of town. He then built a mill around the press complete with an area to wash the apples and storage for 600 bushels of apples.

Since then, he has been expanding the operation bit by bit. In 1988 they enlarged the operation to include a shop where people could not only purchase fresh pressed cider, but also baked goods and homemade apple butter and other fall delights. Later they added the antique business. They also added additional cold storage for 400 more bushels of apples.

Today, David's son, Chris, helps with the cider making business, making this a three-generation operation. A friend, Reid Chamberlain, also helps in every aspect of the cider making process.

The newest venture for the Case family is a bit more high tech than the old fashioned art of cider making. They recently opened a site on the World Wide Web.

"With this, people can visit us any time of the year," explained Daisy.

Included on the website are explanations of how cider is made, helpful apple tips and delicious apple recipes. Gift ideas from the antique and gift shop are also included. People can visit the Mansfield Cider Mill year-round at www.tiogapc.com/users/cidermill/.

No matter how high tech the world becomes, however, most people can be assured that the cider that flows from the Mansfield Cider Mill will always have a touch of that old fashioned goodness that only comes from hard work and a good old press.

"This is our love. We're known for our cider. It's good juice," Daisy said with a smile.

Woolybear Forecasts A 'Snow' Job

I love fall weather. On warm days in the fall, I'm back dodging the wooly bear caterpillars crossing the road. Depending on your location, you may know them as woolly worms or blackened bears.

Can the orange band on the banded woolybear predict a hard or easy winter? In American folk widsom, a wide band means hard winters and a narrow band means easy winters. Old-timers also say dark on the ends predicts a bad fall and spring. And, a wide (orange) center band means a longer milk period in the middle of winter.

Although fun, folk wisdom has little base in science. Woolybears make very poor forecasters. The banded woolybear (Isa isabella) is actually the hairy caterpillar of the Isabella Tiger Moth. It overwinters as the caterpillar and eventually becomes a small (two inch) yellow moth with a few black dots on the wings. The banded woolybear has a pale yellow, long-haired cousin — the yellow woolly bear (Diacrisia virginica) who turns into a similar-sized and patterned whitish moth.

According to Eric Day, an insect ID specialist for Virginia Cooperative Extension, woolybears do a better job predicting summer weather. How? When woolybears have an abundant food supply in the summer, it's mostly orange. If it had a bad summer, it will be mostly black.

Others suggest the coloration of the caterpillar indicates the maturity of the caterpillar. But, when is it full grown? The caterpillar is fully grown the closer we get to winter. It should be over two inches long with a broad colored band or red-brown bristles.

Wooly bears feed on mainly wild plants but also on corn, birch, and a wide range of weeds. They frequent meadows, pastures, uncultivated fields, and road edges. They seldom attack crops or ornamental plants in the garden.

Woolybears do have a short life. This is true even before they slowly cross roads perpendicular to traffic. Woolybears seek shelter in the winer and emerge hungry in the spring.

So, if you see an all-black or all-orange caterpillar crossing the road in late October; it's probably not the woolybear. It is more likely the larvae of another caterpillar: the great leopard moth, or, the yellow woolybear. But it's still fun for the great and small gardener to talk about the wooly bears and the weather.

Soon, we'll be checking the hornet's nest or the yellow jackets or crickets to forecast weather. I think not!!!

Any questions regarding the above article can be addressed to Tom Becker, Penn State Cooperative Extension, at (717) 840-7408.

Make It Happen! FFA

Peterson Wins Reading Fair Award

Every year the Reading Fair recognizes two outstanding FFA members. These members have to be outstanding in a particular area of agriculture and must be 1996 Keystone Award winners.

Crystal Peterson, member of the Twin Valley FFA, is one of the winners of this prestigious award.

Crystal is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Peterson of Honey Brook. Crystal has been very active in Food For America and Tel-Hai pet therapy, which she was chairperson of for two years. Crystal also served as a chapter officer.

She has helped with tree planting, the county milk shake wagon, the Hay Creek Fall Festival, the American Agriculture Day Breakfast, and has attended the County and Collegiate FFA Leadership Conferences.

She has participated in area dairy foods contests and received a gold and a 3rd place medal in the Pennsylvania FFA Dairy Foods contest. She was a member of the Pennsylvania FFA team which earned a bronze medal in the 1994 national FFA dairy foods contest.

Crystal was also a member of the 3rd place state FFA nursery-landscape team in 1995. She has attended the Made for Excellence and State Legislative Leadership conferences. She received the agricultural processing and horticulture foundation medals. Crystal was a 1996 Keystone Degree recipient and one of our chapter stars. Crystal was graduated from Twin Valley in 1996 and looks forward to a career in horticulture.

Olexa Wins Allentown Fair Award

The Allentown Fair presents an award to an outstanding FFA members. They have to be outstanding in a particular area of agriculture and must be a 1996 Keystone Degree recipient. Raina Olexa, member of the Twin Valley FFA, won this award.

Raina is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Marino of Birdsboro, a 1996 graduate of Twin Valley High School, and a member of the Twin Valley FFA at Morgantown.

She is an outstanding example of FFA leadership in action. She served as chairperson of the Twin Valley FFA's Agriculture in the Classroom program this past year. In tis capacity, she was responsible for setting up and organizing 90 programs about agriculture in the elementary schools of the Twin Valley School District. Topics included agriculture is everywhere, agriculture in earlly America, agriculture at Christmas, plants as food, animals and food, honey and bees, pet care, treees and forestry, wetlands, reptiles and amphibians, rainforests, insects, etc. Most lessons are geared to fit into the science curriculum of the third grade classes.

Raina was responsible for setting up the schedule of classes with the elementary principals and teachers, making sure instructional materials were available, arranging transportation for the agriculture students who were doing the programs, and helping to prepare the students who did the actual teaching. Each program was about 30 minutes long with most starting with a skit and progressing through hands-on demonstrations and including a worksheet packet to take home.

In March, Raina began to organize the most difficult part of this educational program. She chared the committee which organized a tour of the high school agriculture facilities for all of the third grade classes. This two-day affair rotated 250 third grades through eight teaching stations at the high school and involved 125 high school agriculture students as presenters.

Raina had to plan for busses and arrange schedules with the three elementary schools, assemble supplies at the high school, schedule high school student presenters so they didn't misst oo many other classes, and supervise the actual tours. She has done an outstanding job as the chairperson on these activities and will be missed.

In her spare time, Raina was also involved in the state FFA chorus, participated in the county interview contest, and received silver medals in the state FFA record book contest for records on her pet rabbits and work experience. As a junior she designed and prunted a recuritment brochure for our agricluture program as part of a visual communications/ agriculture project. She received the agriculture communications proficiency award as a result of this publication.

You ask You answer

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know whom to ask for answers.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible. Please include your phone number because we sometimes need to contact the person to clarify details. We will not publish your phone number unless you request it.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — Kathi Pifer, New Kingstown, wanted a recipe to make V-8 juice. Thanks to Linda Zimmerman, Lititz, for sending this recipe.

V-8 Juice

1 peck tomatoes
2 stalks celery
4 large onions
6 carrots
1 large bunch parsley
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon salt

Cook all vegetables and put through strainer. Add sugar and salt. Boil for 10 minutes and put into jars and seal.

Thanks to Rita Bayler for sending this recipe that she has used for several years.

Tomato Juice Cocktail

12 large, ripe tomatoes
4 medium-sized carrots
2 large sweet green or red peppers
4 celery stalks, diced, leaves included
2 onions, diced
1 garlic clove, minced
¼ cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons honey to taste
1 tablespoon salt to taste
½ teaspoon black pepper
2 bay leaves (optional)
2 sprigs fresh basil or dill or thyme (optional)

Wash unblemished tomatoes, remove stems and cores; cut in small pieces. Scrub and grate carrots. Core, seed, and mince peppers. Combine all ingredients in large stainless steel or enamel kettle and simmer over low heat 45 to 50 minutes, stirring occasionally, until vegetables are soft. Pick out herbs. Strain through a sieve.

To can: Return strained juice to kettle and bring to boil. Pour hot into hot jars, leaving ½ -inch headspace. Adjust lids. Process quarts for 30 minutes at 10 pounds pressure. Yields about 4 quarts.

ANSWER — E.J. Beaver, Ringtown, wanted a recipe for marinated mushrooms that taste similar to those served at Shaw's Deli on Tilghman St., Allentown. Thanks to Stan's Kitchen of Dallas for sending this recipe.

Marinated Mushrooms

2 pounds mushrooms
½ cup lemon juice
1 cup salad oil
3 medium onions, thinly sliced
3 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 teaspoons sugar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon oregano
1 teaspoon basil

Combine all ingredients and cook for 5 to 10 minutes over medium heat. Cool. Cover and refrigerate overnight. Great hot or cold.

ANSWER — Mrs. D.L. Beiler, New Holland, wanted to know how to make whipped butter. Thanks to Shirley Wimer, Harrisonburg, Va., for sending a recipe.

Great Whipped Butter

1 pound butter
½ cup vegetable oil
1 cup buttermilk

Whip together ingredients.

NEW JOHN DEERE ROUND BALERS

7 NEW reasons to own North America's most popular balers

During the last decade, more farmers chose John Deere balers than any other make. Now John Deere introduces seven new round balers with improvements that make choosing a John Deere easier than ever.

All seven models feature the time-proven, variable-belt forming chamber and staggered, diamond-tread belts. This design reduces both leaf loss and bale chafing. You'll build tight bales with a dense core. Bales that stay firm and stand up tall when others sag.

New pickup options pack more hay into the bale. You'll get bigger, tighter, better-shaped bales. The all-new 71-inch-wide pickup (optional) features two converging augers. It's ideal for windblown or scattered windrows. The new standard pickup has more welds

ANSWER — Leora Petet, Hollsopple, wanted a crocheted pineapple butterfly pattern suitable for framing. Thanks to B.J. Light, Lebanon, who writes that a pattern is available from House of Birches, 306 East Pass Rd., Berne, Ind. 46711 or call 1-800-347-9887. That pattern appeared in Catalog #15, page 7, called butterfly dollies #3360252.

ANSWER — Mrs. B.R. Stoltzfus, Leola, wanted a source for a wholesale company that sells wooden hoops for crafts Thanks to B.J. Light, Lebanon, who said that cheapest source she found is Bolek's Craft Supply, P.O. Box 465, 330 N. Tuscarawas Ave., Dove, Ohio 44622-0465 or call 1-800-743-2723.

ANSWER — For L. Horning who wanted two-piece lids that are smaller than regular lids, here are some more answers Mrs. Ernest Lefever has 11 boxes of #63; call (717) 872-5144 Marion Brubaker, has a dozen boxes of lids and two dozer rings. Call her at (717) 5142. Also, Leola Myers, Waynesboro writes the lids can be purchased from Gardeners Kitchen P.O. Box 412 Dept. 91, Farmington, CT 06034.

and increased strength compared to previous balers. Or consider the new optional MegaTooth pickup, designed specifically for use in high-moisture, stemmy, ropey crops, and for baling silage. Teeth are bigger, stiffer, and last longer than most.

Perfect bales – every time – with three types of John Deere monitors. Exclusive new BaleTrak® Plus is the most advanced monitor-controller available. You can control nearly all aspects of baling from your tractor seat – then bale without looking back. The new BaleWatch Monitor also gives you "look-ahead" baling with two gauges plus audible alarms. A simple, mechanical monitoring system is standard on smaller models.

Visit your dealer and see for yourself why more and more farmers and ranchers choose John Deere balers.

JEFF MILLER CLUB CALVES

Jeff Miller will be consigning 10-15 Black, Fancy, Crossbred Steers to the Somerset County Club Calf Sale. These steers will range in age from March through June, and are by some of the top A.I. sires in use today.

These steers were hand picked from several top herds in North Dakota, Montana, Canada, as well as the top picked form within the Miller herd. Don't miss viewing this group of cattle. They come from tremendous cow families, the kind that is essential for cattle to be consistent from birth until showday. You will not be disappointed.

SALE LOCATION:

Somerset County Fairgrounds, Meyersdale PA.

SALE DATE:

October 12, Cattle show at 11:00 a.m., and the Auction starts at 7:00 p.m.

I also have a fancy set of 1/2 through PUREBRED MAINES, CHI-MAINES, CHI-ANGUS Heifers.
Sired by: Paydirt, Bullseye, Driller, Playboy and Payback

UREA AND MINERAL ADDITIVES FOR CORN SILAGE

Corn silage is a popular and effective feed for both feedlot steers and for wintering cows and calves. However, corn silage is deficient in protein, calcium and phosphorus for most classes of beef cattle.

Table 1. Deficiency of Protein, Calcium and Phosphorus in Corn Silage

	Crude protein %	Calcium %	Phosphorus %
Corn silage	8.1	.27	.20
Daily requirements:
Growing steers (500 lbs.)	12.2	.31	.25
Lactating cow	9.3	.28	.22

One method to correct the inadequacy of corn silage for these nutrients and to improve fermentation is to add urea and minerals to the silage at the time it goes into the silo. Adding urea, limestone, or a combination has been shown to increase the production of organic acids in the silage. Of particular importance is the increased production of lactic acid during fermentation.

A dry urea usually has 45 percent nitrogen, which is equivalent to 281 percent crude protein for a ruminant. By adding 10 pounds of urea to corn silage that is 30 percent dry matter and 8 percent crude protein, the protein content of the silage will increase to 12.7 percent crude protein. This may be both an effective and economical way to provide supplemental protein to most classes of beef cattle since there will no further cost for either protein supplements or for the labor and equipment to provide the supplement.

Additionally, adding urea at ensiling time may be more effective than adding it to the silage at the time of feeding. Research at Ohio State and Illinois has shown a slight advantage in performance for cattle on urea-treated silage compared to when urea was added as a supplement at feeding.

Some other important steps in using urea and mineral-treated silage include:

- Get a feed sample of the silage analyzed after the material has fermented to be sure rations are balanced correctly.
- There is some indication additional sulfur may be of benefit in rations which use urea as the primary protein source.
- Use untreated silage or hay to start stressed calves in a feedlot.
- Calves under four months of age will not be able to use the urea as protein until their rumen is more fully developed.
- Add the prescribed amounts of urea and minerals to the silage because these materials can become toxic to the animal when fed at levels which are too high.

It is essential to know the dry matter value of the silage before attempting to mix urea and minerals with it. In general, urea can be added to silage that is between 30 percent and 40 percent dry matter.

When the silage is too wet, the urea may escape as seepage, and when it is too dry the urea may be lost as ammonia and make the silage unpalatable.

Table 2. Urea-Mineral Mixes for Silage

Item	Percentage of mix
Urea (45% nitrogen)	58.0
Dicalcium phosphate	18.0
Sodium sulfate	8.0
Trace-mineral salt	16.0

Application rate
32	18.1
34	19.3
36	20.4
38	21.5
40	22.7

It is important to get the urea-mineral mix spread evenly through the silage. Poor mixing can result in caking and bridging of the silage, poor animal perfor-

- Be sure you know the dry matter content of the silage.
- Mix the urea and minerals together well before applying them to the silage.
- For upright silos, meter the mix through the blower, or pour it over the top of the load and allow the blower to mix it.
- Get a good approximation of the weight of silage in a load so the proper amount of mix can be added.
- For a trench or bunker silo, the mix can be metered into the chopper or spread over the top of a load before dumping. Spreading it over the top of the stack will result in a poor mix.

Monsanto Signs Letter Of Intent To Acquire Asgrow Agronomics

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Monsanto Company has signed a letter of intent to acquire the Asgrow Agronomics business of Seminis, Inc., a subsidiary of Empresas La Moderna, S.A., (ELM) for $240 million.

"Asgrow's strength in soybeans is particularly important to us as we accelerate the sales of our Roundup Ready soybeans and other new soybean products to farmers worldwide," said Henrik A. Verfaillie, executive vice president, Monsanto. "The acquisition of Asgrow Agronomics strengthens our ability to quickly move our innovations into the marketplace."

In a separate transaction, Monsanto and ELM also will enter into a major, nonexclusive technology collaboration. Under this arrangement, Monsanto will become a "preferred provider" of agronomic and quality traits developed through biotechnology that will be used by ELM in its fruit and vegetable seed and produce businesses.

Unverferth Introduces New Grain Wagon Line

Unverferth Manufacturing Company announces the addition of a new line of high-capacity grain wagons to its grain handling equipment lineup.

KALIDA, Ohio — Unverferth Manufacturing Company announces the addition of a new line of high-capacity grain wagons to its grain handling equipment lineup.

These new grain wagons are available in models 430, 530, and 630 with capacities of 450, 550, and 625 bushels, respectively. All feature unitized, one-piece sidewall construction for increased strength and durability, extra capacity without the need for add-on sideboards, and fewer seams and joints that are subject to corrosion.

Rear-wheel hydraulic surge brakes on models 430 and 530 and four-wheel brakes on the 630 are standard equipment and provide a smooth, even stop, even with the heaviest loads. The chassis is equipped with torsion-bar suspension and spring hold down to keep the load stable. Additional safety features include safety chain with integral attachments on the front and rear and rear flashing amber and red taillights with seven-pin receptacles front and rear for towing units in tandem. Windows on the front, side, and rear provide convenient load viewing.

New Waxy Corn From CFS

MOMENCE, Ill. — Custom Farm Seed (CFS), an innovator and leader in waxy corn hybrids, has introduced three new waxy corn hybrids for the 1997 growing year.

The new hybrids reveal the research and development benefits of the numerous CFS Custom Selection System (CSS) plots located across the Corn Belt. The 2½ -acre plots use new advanced technology, offer side-by-side comparisons of up to 60 hybrids in replication grown under grower environments, and require minimal planting and harvesting time. The combined results of CSS plots and CFS research enable CFS sales staff to carefully match specific growing conditions and needs with the best hybrids available.

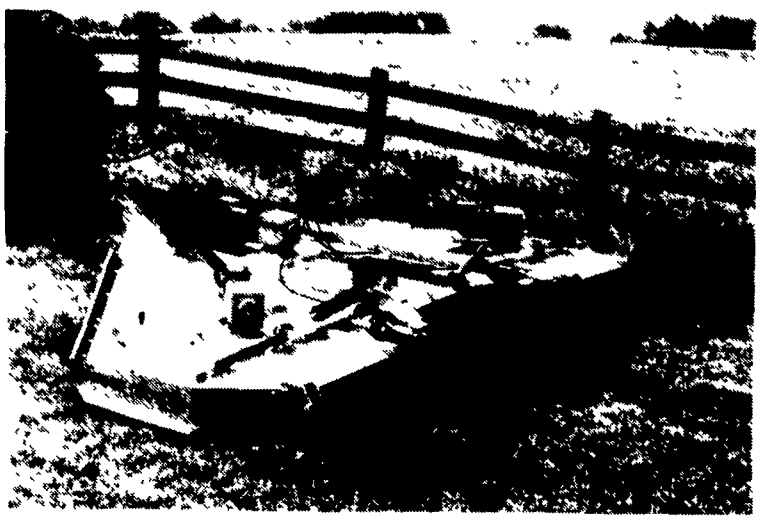
"The newly released hybrids passed the tests for top agronomic traits and top yields in both 1994 and 1995," said Gary Apel, agronomist, Custom Farm Seed. "They were top performers under both good growing conditions and stressful conditions."

CFS W3777, 93-97 RM/100 MN, gives farmers a tall robust hybrid for grain or silage. With excellent yield potential, it performs under a variety of different growing conditions. CFS W3777 offers good standability with excellent stay green ability.

CFS W5872, 104-108 RM/110 MN, is widely adapted with high yield performance. It responds to high fertility and is a good choice for high management.

CFS W6175, 107-111 RM/110 MN, offers very good emergence, excellent plant health with good stay green ability and a very fast dry down.

Medium Duty 15-Foot Cutters Available



SALINA, Kan. — The new Medium Duty Land Pride 15-foot Cutter is designed for applications ranging from road side maintenance to cutting pastures and clearing row crop residue.

The unit features a heavily reinforced deck and tall sidewalls. The new stump jumper with its exclusive cone shaped design provides 360-degree reinforcement to the blade pan. Branches and stalks up to 2 inches in diameter are easily cut with the 4-inch x ½ -inch blades.

Land Pride's Medium Duty 15-foot Cutter features the industry's heaviest gearbox along with a 2⅜ -inch output shaft. Optimum flexibility is achieved with the floating cylinder design which permits wings to operate up to 22 degrees below level. The self-leveling hitch remains level at the drawbar and reduces drawbar wear. For ease in operation, the entire cutting depth is adjusted from a single cylinder.

Disc Mowers Available

SALINA, Kan. — Land Pride introduces a top quality disc mower available in 6- and 7-disc models. These mowers are plug proof even at high speeds and offer a heavy duty, category 1 or 2 hitch to fit a wide variety of tractors.

A reinforced cutterbar and heat treated knives that overlap five inches, ensure an excellent cut. All bearings are located in a sealed housing and each shaft has a pre-determined shear point to protect and extend the life of the gears. Discs are easily removed with one recessed nut to access the bearing housing.

Precise positioning of the suspension spring reduces the down pressure on both sides of the cutterbar, extending the life of the skid shoe. The durable safety curtain is quickly held into place with heavy duty straps.

Split Row Planter Available

SALINA, Kan. — Great Plains introduces the new 12/23 split row planter for no-till, min-till or conventional planting. This state-of-the-art planter combines the new Great Plains 1230 folding 12-row planter with the SR1130 11-row splitter unit.

The 11-row splitter is pulled behind the 12-row planter utilizing Great Plains' field proven, center pivot design. The units align perfectly to provide accurate 15-inch rows in all conditions including curves and contours. The center pivot design also eliminates side-loading which can cause premature wear on row units. Because the planter and splitter are two separate units, it can quickly adapt for 15-inch or 30-inch rows by simply hooking or unhooking the splitter. Unlike most splitter planters, 30-inch rows can be planted without the additional weight of the unused row units.

Low and narrow transport is another important feature of this unit. The unit folds to a stacked position to provide transport dimensions of 15-foot width and 12-foot 10-inch height.

The 12/23 planter system features a 5-inch x 7-inch and 7-inch x 7-inch double bar frame, consistent tongue weight, and short turning radius for maneuverability. Other features include a positive lift systems, row unit accessibility and flat folding markers. Two bushel seed hoppers come standard and optional 70-pound chemical hoppers are also available. Fertilizer and various row tillage attachments are also available.

Case Offers Tracked 4-Wheel-Drive Tractor

DENVER, Colo. — Case Corporation recently announced the introduction of its Quadtrac® tractor, the company's first fully integrated four-wheel-drive track-type tractor.

Featuring superior floatation, power and reliability, the 360-horsepower Quadtrac tractor will meet farmers' needs for low compaction and high productivity with the most tractive efficiency possible, according to Mitch Kaiser, Case marketing manager, tractors.

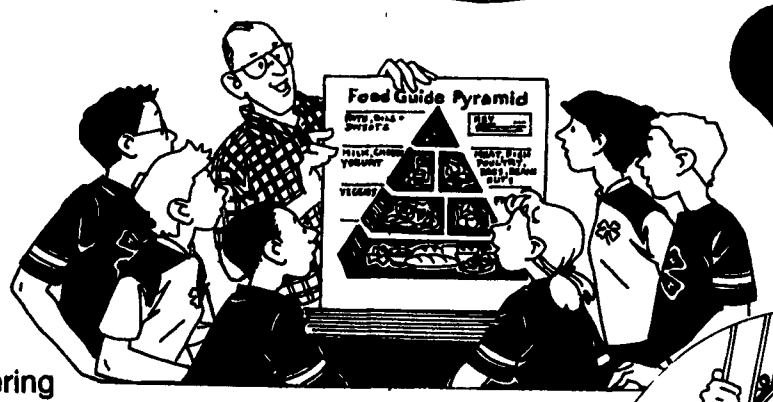
"The Quadtrac — designed from the ground up by Case engineering — is a premium tractor that exceeds previous industry expectations," said Kaiser. "With the smoothest ride available, full power through all turns and superior traction by having all four tracks on the ground at the same time, the Quadtrac tractor is an evolutionary new competitor that sets new standards in the tractor market.

Featuring superior floatation, power and reliability, the 360-horsepower Quadtrac® tractor will meet farmers' needs for low compaction and high productivity, according to Mitch Kaiser, Case Corporation marketing manager, tractors.

"It's a landmark addition to our Case IH four-wheel-drive line of tractors — already the most complete line in the industry with more available models to match any farming application than all other manufacturers."

NATIONAL 4-H WEEK

OCTOBER 6-12, 1996



4-H reaches young people across the nation, offering them an opportunity to contribute to their community as they develop independence, awareness and responsibility. With subjects like livestock, plants and soil, energy, ecology and jobs and careers, boys and girls between the ages of 9 and 19 partake in activities and projects aimed at promoting creativity and personal growth. Their 4-H experience provides a foundation of strong ideals to live by as they become our next generation of adults. It's an important organization... one that we heartily support and proudly salute.

Thanks, 4-H

Maryland DHIA Report For August

The August Dairy Herd Improvement information for dairy herds from the DHI processing center in Provo, Utah. The list includes herds from Maryland, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia. The information is listed by herd name, county association, number of cows in the herd and the average production per cow in the herd based on Energy Corrected Milk (ECM). ECM combines milk production and components.

The ECM formula is: (7.2 x lbs. protein) + (12.95 x lbs. fat) + (.327 x lbs. milk). To be included, the herd must have 10 cows averaging 65 pounds or more of ECM per cow, per day. All herds reported are on official DHI or DHIR test. Also listed are the top ten herds in Maryland for the Brown Swiss, Guernseys, and Jerseys, and the top eight herds for Ayrshires.

THINK CONCRETE WHEN PLANNING YOUR FEED STORAGE!!

"This is the kind of silo you need to protect your valuable feed."

"HOW WILL YOU BE STORING YOUR VALUABLE FORAGES AND GRAINS IN THE 21st CENTURY?"

It's not too early to begin planning your storage and feeding systems for the year 2000 and beyond.

As margins narrow, dairymen need to invest in efficiency; this can have as great an influence on PROFIT as milk price changes.

CURTAIN SYSTEMS

Lapp's Curtain System

Lapp's insulated curtains can help you make your farm more efficient. You can save up to 30% on your fuel/energy costs while maintaining a comfortable climate enables livestock to feed into live weight more efficiently, the curtain makes your barn warmer in winter and cooler in summer.

Our curtains are available in both 4 and 6 ply, both of which are faced with a impervious white vinyl layer which faces the elements. With all these benefits, the average payback is two years!

A lower cost alternative to the insulated curtains, are Lapp's single layer curtains. You still get all the benefits of using a high quality curtain to keep the elements outside and being able to lower the curtain to naturally ventilate in your barn.

You Rise Up Early When You Live On A Farm.
The Chores are all waiting as you enter the barn.
Soon you will leave and go into the house, your breakfast is waiting, made by your spouse.
Now before you go out, I have something to say.
I was cleaning upstairs, the other day. Some won't go up, others just fall down, you can feel the cold air blowing all around. Look at these windows, how easy to clean, a house full of these would fulfill my dream. Why don't we call them, they look so nice there is no charge for giving a price.

That's Right, Call Sensenig Today.

INTRODUCING...

SWEETCAKE 16NU

FEED SUPPLEMENT BLOCKS FOR THE LIVESTOCK INDUSTRY

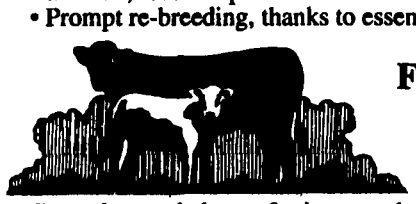
- High Natural Protein • No Urea • Fat Enhanced
- Balanced Supplementation • Safe For All Livestock Classes

Sweetcake Advantages

- Aids in making the best use of your available forage
- Promotes a more even herd consumption, with 24-hour availability to all cattle
- Reduces labor to save you money and give you more time to make important management decisions
- Supplies much-needed vitamins and minerals that forage lacks to help your cattle perform to their genetic potential
- Supplies fat in most formulations to enhance energy intake

For Dairy

- Replacement heifers that grow out soundly and economically
- Body condition on dry cows so they can return to lactation, producing at the maximum potential
- Healthier herds, with essential trace minerals that help prevent metritis, retained placenta and other health problems
- Prompt re-breeding, thanks to essential nutrients



For Beef

- Stronger, healthier calves at birth
- Heavier Calves at weaning
- Cows that cycle better for improved conception rates
- Cows that milk better to raise a better calf

- AVAILABLE IN 200 LB. SIZE -

Cut stall clean-out time by 50% with a Millcreek Compact Spreader.

EARL SINKS - Brock, Texas

Say "Good-Bye" to back-breaking manure handling and cut stall clean-out time in half. Hook an affordable Millcreek Compact Spreader to your 10 hp garden tractor, take it right to the stall for easy loading No more wheelbarrow

Millcreek Spreaders last and last

Since spreaders are our specialty, we put more into each one For example our 20-year guaranteed floor will never rust or rot. Positive chain drive provides excellent spreading action. And tough steel construction holds up to rugged farm use Seven sizes, for 1-horse barns to 50-horse stables. PTO and ground drive models available

Proper Winter Feeding Increases Gains

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Since winter feed costs make up a high percentage of total cow costs, it's important to develop a feeding program that allows the herd to be carried through the winter at least expense while still maintaining health and body condition.

Dr. John Hough, research and performance director for the American Hereford Association, said nutritional requirements of dry, mature pregnant cows are only slightly above maintenance and lower than other periods in the annual production cycle. Because of these low nutrient requirements, this group is able to utilize a lower quality of forage than any other group of cattle.

Feed of only 5.8 percent to 6.4 percent crude protein and 53 percent to 56 percent total digestible nutrients (TDN) is sufficient. This provides an opportunity to cut winter feed costs by using feed such as crop residues, mature grasses, low-quality hay, and other lower-quality feeds.

"Nutrient requirements, as well as management, increase dramatically after calving. Nutrient requirements are directly related to the cow's milk production. If adequate milk production and rebreeding are to be achieved, feed quality and quantity must be increased," Hough said. "You must be sure nursing cows are getting good forage and feed supplements."

Research shows that for maximum lifetime production, heifers should first calve as 2-year-olds. Adequate nutrition and management are essential if heifers are to reach the ideal breeding weight of 600 to 750 pounds.

"Replacement heifers must have greater protein and energy percentages in their feed than mature cows," Hough said. "In addition, newly-weaned heifer calves require closer observation to detect weaning stress or lack of nutrition."

By supplying your herd with adequate nutrition without overfeeding, you can more easily maintain a healthy herd, reducing the risk of sickness, keep feed costs in line, and realize greater profits.

Gelbvieh Breeder Recognized

WESTMINSTER, Colo. — Dunwalke Farm, Far Hills, N.J. was recently recognized by the American Gelbvieh Association (AGA) as the owner of three Gelbvieh cows exhibiting the consistent maternal efficiency typical of "The Mother Breed of Beef."

The AGA has designated these outstanding beef females as dam of merit or dam of distinction.

Maternal productivity plays a major role in profitable beef production, as nearly 60 percent of the cost of producing a pound of beef can be attributed to the cow herd. Research has demonstrated that fertility and calving ease followed by milk, growth and carcass cutability have the biggest influence on profit in a retained ownership (conception to carcass) system.

Cattlemen agree that Gelbvieh have strong maternal attributes with the added benefits of growth and carcass cutability. Given the increased emphasis on the efficient production of lean beef, the Gelbvieh breed is in an excellent position to increase its influence on the beef industry.

The title "Dam of Merit" recognizes cows with at least three calves that meet strict selection criteria including early puberty and conception, regular calving intervals and above-average weaning weights. The "Dam of Distinction" honor recongizes cows that meet the same high standards for superior, long-term productivity with at least eight calves.

For more information on Gelbvieh cattle and AGA programs, contact the American Gelbvieh Association at 10900 Dover Street, Westminster, CO 80021, (303) 465-BEEF.

OCTOBER IS CO-OP MONTH

WHEN IT COMES TO DESCRIBING AMERICA'S CO-OPS, THE SKY'S THE LIMIT

The nation's 47,000 co-operatives are big and small. They serve 120 million people in all 50 states. And, they're located everywhere - cities, towns, suburbs and throughout rural America.

Providing goods and services as economically and efficiently as possible is their first order of business. And as locally owned and controlled businesses, co-ops are unique because of their commitment not only to the people they serve but also to their communities.

You'll find co-ops for credit and financing, electric and telephone service, insurance, housing, day care, health care, food, farm marketing and supply, news services, florists and much more.

For years co-op have been expanding horizons for the people they serve. In their own words: "It's just good business, and it works for the benefit of our neighbors, our communities and for our country too."

The Milk Cooperatives serving the dairy farmers in Pennsylvania, Maryland, New York and Virginia are proud to be a part of this great cooperative enterprise.

WHAT DO BONES AND EGGSHELLS HAVE IN COMMON?

Roland M. Leach, Jr.
Professor
Dept. of Poultry Science
Penn State

1. Calcium
2. Phosphorus
3. Amount of organic matrix
4. Osteopontin

The answer to this quiz is calcium and osteopontin. The mineral in bone is calcium phosphate, while the mineral in eggshells is calcium carbonate.

The feature which distinguishes the calcium phosphate in bone from the calcium phosphate found in mineral deposits is the organic matrix of bone.

The same is true when comparing limestone with eggshell. However, there is a big difference in quantity of organic matrix: it is 50 percent of bone while only four percent of the eggshell. Although four percent may sound like a trivial quantity, the organic matrix of eggshell organizes the calcium carbonate crystals in a structure quite different from that observed in limestone.

The major component of the organic matrix of bone is a protein called collagen. Gelatin, a food product, is boiled collagen. However, in bone, collagen is in the form of fibers which have a characteristic structure when examined under the microscope.

In recent years, a major thrust in bone biology research has been the discovery of minor constituents of the organic matrix of bone. These proteins (of the minor constituents group) have been given neat names such as osteonectin, osteocalcin, and osteopontin. These are considered important regulators of bone metabolism.

For example, osteopontin may attract osteoclasts (bone-destroying cells) like honey attracts bees. Thus, when osteopontin is exposed on the surface of bone, it acts as a docking site for the osteoclast to start digesting bone.

It turns out that osteopontin is another likeness between bones and eggshells. Recent research in Israel has shown that it is a major component of the organic matrix of eggshell. Furthermore, cells in the shell-forming region of the oviduct make and secrete this protein only when an egg is present in the oviduct.

In addition to shell strength, osteopontin may be playing an important role in embryonic development. Here is how! As you might suspect, calcium is essential for embryonic development. During the first 10 days of the 21-day incubation period, the embryo obtains its calcium from the egg yolk. However, as the bones start to calcify, the yolk is unable to supply this increased demand, so the embryo starts to obtain calcium from the eggshell.

Osteoclast-like cells associated with the chorioallantoic membrane dissolve the inner layers of the eggshell, releasing calcium and making it available to sustain embryonic bone mineralization. We would predict that osteopontin in the shell matrix is the compound attracting the shell-dissolving cells.

Although bone and eggshells differ in many ways, they share two features: calcium and osteopontin. The calcium serves as a source of blood calcium which is essential for life, while osteopontin serves as the attractant for the cells which make the calcium available for maintaining serum calcium.

Peach, Nectarine Producers Vote To Increase Assessment

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Agriculture Secretary Charles C. Brosius has announced the results of a referendum to increase the assessment rate for producers of peaches and nectarines in Pennsylvania.

"The Pennsylvania Peach and Nectarine Research Program provides funding for research on new varieties, and on pests that affect fruit production," Brosius said. "I'm pleased that our producers have voted to increase their level of support for this important program."

Persons who produce, grow, or cause to be produced or grown 500 or more peach and/or nectarine trees were eligible to vote for the amendment. The positive vote means an increase in the rate of assessment from $3 per acre to $5 per acre for each affected producer.

Of the 53 eligible ballots that were cast, 38 (71.7 percent) were marked "in favor" and 15 (28.3 percent) "against" the amendment. Producers voting in favor of the amendment represented 2,069.9 acres or 78.8 percent of the total acreage of the producers voting, and producers voting against the amendment represented 558.5 acres of 21.2 percent of the total acreage of producers voting. Three spoiled and ineligible ballots were received.

Because a majority of the votes by number and by volume were cast in favor of the amendment of the program, the Pennsylvania Peach and Nectarine Research Program has been amended to reflect the $5 per acre assessment beginning with the current marketing season.

Oley Fair Posts Results

OLEY (Berks Co.) — On Thursday, Sept. 19, the 50th annual Oley Fair held its beef show.

There were 12 steers and nine heifers entered in the fair.

Other results of the show are as follows:

Pennsylvania Has Strictest Food Safety Standards For Eggs

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Despite public concern over the rise of Salmonella contamination of meats and eggs, there is good news about the safety of eggs produced in Pennsylvania, said a Penn State poultry scientist.

"Foodborne outbreaks of Salmonella enteritidis are on the rise, and many of these outbreaks are caused by eggs or food made from eggs," said Dr. Paul Patterson, assistant professor of poultry science in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences. "Pennsylvania's egg producers are highly concerned about Salmonella contamination and the safety of consumers, and they have taken action."

The state's egg producers joined forces with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, and researchers at Penn State and the University of Pennsylvania to establish the Pennsylvania Egg Quality Assurance Program, or PEQAP. The program was officially formed in 1994 and is monitored by PDA.

"We've established one of the most effective food safety programs for shell eggs in the nation," said Patterson. "Currently 266 flocks in Pennsylvania are enrolled in PEQAP, representing about 85 percent of the 22 million laying hens in the state. Participating producers are spending $1 million annually to reduce the risk of Salmonella enteritidis contamination. Costs incurred by PDA are more than $400 thousand for laboratory testing and third-party monitoring."

Eggs sold by participating producers carry a "Tested-Quality" seal stating that "the eggs you have purchased have been produced, handled and delivered to reduce the opportunity for foodborne illness — including Salmonella enteritidis."

PEQAP utilizes a food safety system known as Hazard Analysis of Critical Control points. "HACCP was developed by Pillsbury Company researchers to ensure the quality and safety of foods sent into space for NASA astronauts," Patterson said. "The system is widely used in many branches of the food system to identify and monitor critical food-safety control points and to minimize bacterial contamination.

"Egg producers and researchers identified critical control points that were potential hazards for Salmonella enteritidis contamination in the production, processing and handling of eggs," he said. "Monitoring these critical control points is an essential part of the program. When safety limits are exceeded at these points, producers correct the problem immediately."

PEQAP has been highly successful in controlling Salmonella enteritidis outbreaks. The frequency of contamination on farms in the state has dropped more than 70 percent since the program started. "As of this June, only eight percent of Pennsylvania's flocks were contaminated with Salmonella bacteria," Patterson said.

Along with using HACCP practices, egg producers in the program are minimiziong the risk of egg contamination by purchasing chicks from breeder flocks certified to be free of the bacteria and are testing to verify that chicks and pullets are free of Salmonella when they arrive at their farms. They also sample for Salmonella enteritidis in their hen houses, aggressively control rodent populations on their farms, routinely clean and disinfect poultry houses and maintain strict biosecurity programs.

While PEQAP producers are doing their part to eliminate Salmonella enteritidis in eggs, Patterson advises consumers and members of the food service industry to take precautions as well. Cold eggs and egg dishes should be refrigerated at 40 degrees F or colder, and cooked egg dishes should be served immediately after preparation or be kept at 140 degrees F or hotter.

"Salmonella enteritidis organisms grow rapidly in temperatures between 40 degrees F and 140 degrees F," Patterson said. "A single bacteria can divide and multiply to 64,000 in eight hours, and more than one billion bacteria can grow in a 15-hour period if the conditions are right.

"Because of the high nutritional content of eggs, they are susceptible to bacterial growth and always should be cooked and handled with care," Patterson said. "But consumers also can feel confident that egg producers in our state are testing their birds, poultry houses, and eggs to help ensure safety."

Extension Sets a Meeting

DAUPHIN (Dauphin Co.) — The public is invited to attend the 79th annual meeting of the Dauphin County Penn State Cooperative Extension, Monday, Nov. 11, at 6:45 p.m. at the Founders Hall, Hershey.

This year's program will feature the 4-H Program. A reception will be served at 7 p.m.

A reservation form can be obtained by calling (717) 921-8803. Deadline for reservations is Monday, Oct. 28.

Special features will be: discussion of 4-H's impact in the community, a video presentation of the Dauphin County 4-H Program, and recognition of cooperative extension leadership.

Pennsylvania Rural Electric Assn. Serves 600,000 Residents

The Pennsylvania Rural Electric Association (PREA), based in Harrisburg, Pa., is the service organization for the nonprofit, consumer-owned rural electric cooperatives in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Currently, the 13 co-ops in Pennsylvania and one in New Jersey provide electric service to more than 600,000 rural residents, businesses and industries. Pennsylvania's co-ops own and maintain about 12.5 percent of the electric distribution lines in the state, covering nearly one-third of the Commonwealth's land area in 41 counties. These lines represent one of the largest non-governmental investments in rural infrastructure in the state and are an essential component of business and industry.

PREA's 14-member board of directors — one director elected from each of its member cooperatives — conducts the association's business to best serve the consumer-members of the co-ops.

PREA works jointly with Allegheny Electric Cooperative, Inc., a generation and transmission cooperative that provides wholesale power to the 14 co-ops.

HISTORY

As late as the 1930s , only six out of every 100 rural Pennsylvanians knew the miracle of the electric light bulb in their homes. The reason — established power companies in Pennsylvania and New Jersey had decided that running electric lines into rural areas would not make them a profit.

As a rule, power companies changed farmers $2,000 to $3,000 per mile to build lines to their homes and then charged electric rates higher than those in the cities. Since the average gross income of a farm family of the period was just $1,800 per year, most couldn't afford electric service.

In many areas, power was not available at any cost. For a time it seemed the profit needs — greed — of stockholder-controlled private power companies would condemn most of Pennsylvania's and New Jersey's rural population to live forever with kerosene lamps and hand pumps.

Bur rural leaders and a handful of politicians were not ready to accept the status quo. They began working to demonstrate that electric power could be provided to rural areas at a reasonable cost and began developing a business structure to make that delivery possible.

In 1931, New York Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt established the Power Authority of the State of New York (PASNY) to develop water power on the St. Lawrence River. PASNY produced the first study on the actual costs of electric distribution and helped demonstrate the practicality of providing electricity to rural areas.

The first official federal action in the process leading to rural electrification came in 1933 with the formation of the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA). The act enabling the TVA authorized the construction of transmission lines to serve farms and small villages "not otherwise supplied with electricity at reasonable rates" and gave preference in the sale of power to "cooperative organizations of citizens or farmers."

In 1935, armed with studies showing both the economic feasibility and the benefits of providing electricity to rural areas, then-President Roosevelt signed an executive order forming the Rural Electrification Administration (REA).

The REA program was initially intended as an inducement to the private power companies to begin serving rural areas. But even with the incentives provided by 2 percent REA loans, the private power suppliers showed little interest in building the necessary lines. By the end of 1935, it was clear that the private power companies weren't serious about acting on the government's offer to electrify the countryside. Most of the loan applications and inquiries REA received came from farm co-ops. REA now realized that farmers and their rural neighbors were willing to take electrification into their own hands on a cooperative basis.

Farmers had long experience with cooperatives. In fact, the co-op was the business structure rural people adopted when confronted with a task too large for any family to handle itself.

It was natural then that rural leaders chose to form another kind of co-op to provide themselves and their neighbors with electricity. Since extending central station electric service required very specialized engineering skills, many in Congress were convinced rural electrification would never be accomplished without REA receiving regular appropriations and full status. So in 1936, one year and 20 days after REA had been created, Congress passed legislation making REA a permanent government agency. In 1939, REA became part of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

On October 20, 1994, a sweeping reorganization of the Ag Department took place. As a result, after 59 years of existence, REA was officially disbanded. Most REA functions were transferred to a new Rural Utilities Service (RUS).

But the mission of rural electrification continues. Today, about 1,000 electric cooperatives across the United States provide power to more than 25 million consumer members. Each co-op is a locally owned, taxpaying business incorporated under the laws of its individual state.

Rural electric cooperatives have been delivering low-cost electric service to Pennsylvania and New Jersey rural residents since 1936, when the Steamburg Electric Cooperative Association (later consolidated into Northwestern Rural Electric Cooperative) was established in Erie and Crawford counties.

The 14 rural electric cooperatives that today comprise PREA were organized between 1936 and 1941. By the time the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941, all of them had gone through the pangs of becoming organized, of getting their first loans, of making arrangements for power supply at least on a short-term basis and had begun construction of lines to reach their unserved neighbors.

With the outbreak of WWII, the co-ops realized they need a statewide organization to speak for them as one voice on legislative issues. The co-ops created PREA in February 1942.

OCTOBER IS CO-OP MONTH
RURAL ELECTRIC COOPERATIVES

Rural Electric Cooperatives have been providing low-cost electric service to Pennsylvania rural residents since 1936, when the Steamburg Electric Cooperative Association (later consolidated into Northwestern Rural Electric Cooperative) was established in Crawford and Erie counties.

Today, rural electric cooperatives in Pennsylvania are providing reliable electric service to many rural residents in numerous counties. Many rural electric co-ops are involved in economic growth efforts and community programs to meet rural needs.

PAADS National Show Results Highlight Active Week

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The supreme champion of the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show (PAADS), annouced late last week was a six-year-old Jersey cow owned by Douglas King and Michael Heath, of Westminster, Md.

However, there were six grand dames of the week-long national and regional dairy shows all offered competition in the center of the Large Arena of the Pennsylvania State Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg.

During PAADS week the Pennsylvania 4-H and FFA youth hold their final breed shows of the year; the state Holstein Association holds its annual fall championship and determines the All-Pennsylvania champions, which are to be published this month; and then there are six regional and national dairy breed shows of the six major recognized dairy breeds — Jersey, Holstein, Ayrshire, Guernsey, Brown Swiss, and Milking Shorthorn.

Sparklers Unique Jeanna, an Excellent 92-point classified Jersey, was supreme of PAADS, but also was grand champion of the Mid-Atlantic Regional Jersey Show held as part of PAADS.

Earlier this year Jeanna also took supreme champion honors at the Maryland State Fair, and at the 1995 World Dairy Expo, she took second place in the five-year-old age class.

According to Mike Heath, she is going to travel again to Madison, Wis., to compete. For her PAADS supreme title she earned her owners $600.

The supreme title at PAADS awards $1,000 in prize money — $600 to the supreme, $200 to the runner-up and $50 to each of the four other grand champions.

That Pennsylvania trio which keeps animals at Campbell Run Farm in Ford City, also was named premier exhibitor of the show.

Lilly is a 4-year-old, Very Good 89-point cow, that earlier in the week, during the Pennsylvania Holstein Association Fall Championship, placed first in her class, but wasn't named either senior or reserve senior champion. The Campbell Run Farm group, however, was also named premier exhibitor of the fall championship.

While it was a different show on a different day, the grand champion of the fall championship show was Penn Gate Chief Mark Alice, a 5-year-old owned by Steve and

PAADS National Show Results

Christine Wood and Robert Gitt, all of Littlestown. Alice was named best bred and owned of the Eastern National Show.

The grand champion of the National Guernsey Show was Guerndale Fayette Robin, owned by another Pennsylvanian, Aaron Gable, of Snider Homestead Farm, in New Enterprise. Robin, an aged cow, is classified an Excellent 91-points, and was bred by former Lancaster County Guernsey breeder Fred Garber, whose line of cattle could be traced back to the Isle of Guernsey.

The returning grand champion of the Eastern National Brown Swiss Show was another aged cow, Long View Jades Raisin, owned by G.S. Associates of New Windsor, Md. She was runnerup supreme at the 1995 North American Livestock Exposition, and last year's runner-up supreme at PAADS.

The 2E 92-point grand champion of the Eastern National Ayrshire Show was aged cow Sunny Acres Jade's Katrina, owned by Doug Evans, of Sunny Acres Farm in Georgetown, New York. In fact a lot of his prefix cows placed well in the show.

In the Eastern National Milking Shorthorn Show, Pinesedge BT Alfair-EXP, owned by John and Marjorie Kuszlyk, of Kuszlyk Cattle Company, in Batavia, N.Y. The 3-year-old Excellent 92-point cow comes a a pedigree of show ring achievement, and placed first in her age class in the 1995 PAADS and first in her age class at the 1995 World Dairly Expo.

The Kuszlyks were also named premier exhibitor of their show.

Mid-Atlantic Jersey Show

The best bred and owned Jersey was a senior 3-year-old, Fireman Plum, owned by Claire Dufford-Waverly, of Wavery Farm in Clearbrook, Va. Waverly Farm also was named premier breeder and exhibitor of the show.

State Alternate Dairy Princess Merideth Welderspahn presents ribbons to Terry Rawn, leadsman for the reserve grand champion of the Eastern National Ayrshire Show.

The junior champion animal was North River Juno Leana 4, owned by Mike Heath and Associates, of Westminster, Md., while the reserve junior champion was senior calf Saybrook Juno Wildflower, owned by Russ Subject and Scott Youse of Saybrook Jerseys, in Southampton, N.J.

Saybrook Jerseys also received top PAADS honors for the week for good housekeeping among all breed exhibitors, a repeat win for Saybrook.

Eastern National Holstein Show

In the open division, the reserve grand champion of the Eastern National Holstein Show was Tri-Day Adeen, a senior 2-year-old, owned by Oseeana Holsteins, in Lumberport, West Virginia. Leadsman for Adeen was its breeder, Curtis Day, of Tri-Day Holsteins in Shippensburg.

While Penn Gate Farm showed the best bred and owned of the Eastern National show, they also received the show's premier breeder banner.

The junior champion Holstein was a winter heifer, Junie-Marie Miss Skyway, owned by Craig and Katie Dudte, of Ashland, Ohio.

The reserve junior champion was Venneth Jackpot Cinderella, owned by Strouse, Connely and Heffner, of Jefferson, Maryland.

The champion Holstein bull was a junior yearling, Ernest Anthony SD Tutt-ET, owned by Ernest Kueffner, of Kueffner Holsteins and Jerseys. The reserve champion bull was a Cha Do Broker Main Event, a calf owned by Pennsylvanian Ronald Harer, of Roaring Branch.

Kocher had shown Jasmine to win the Pennsylvania 3-year-old Futurity earlier in the week, and also to win grand champion of the state fall championship show youth division, as well as open division intermediate champion.

The Eastern National Holstein reserve grand of the youth division was a 5-year-old cow, Ehrhardt Astro Jody-ET, owned by Kevin Ehrhardt, of Baldwin, Maryland. Ehrhardt's cow was reserve grand at the Maryland State Fair, and grand in that state's 4-H central district show.

Eastern National Milking Shorthorn

The reserve grand champion of the Eastern National Milking Shorthorn show was aged cow Summit-Vista San Dixie, owned by Pennsylvanian Matthew Goshorn, of Summit-Vista Farm, in Blairs Mills.

The junior champion was a summer yearling, Miss Lucy Rebel

ML03 SERIES

ML Pulvi-mulchers feature the 20", six-spoke ductile iron notched roller wheel and now available with 20" ductile iron crowfoot wheel. The Brillion Pulvi-mulcher crushes both surface and buried lumps and converts fall and spring plowing into a clod-free seedbed. The ductile iron wheels carry a five-year warranty against breakage. Available in 12'6", 13'10", 15'2" and 18'9"

WL03 SERIES

The WL is the latest example of how Brillion has met the challenge of the earth and competition. The front rollers break up surface clods. "C" shaped ribbon teeth or "S" spring tine teeth break up the soil to 6" in depth and pull clods to the surface. Available in 21'6", 25' & 30' Widths. Ductile Roller Wheels firm without compaction.

Showmanship Reigns Supreme At Perry County Fair

NEWPORT (Perry Co.) — "Your people have some of the best lambs in the state and some of the best trained kids," said Dr. Robert Herr, judge of the market sheep, breeding sheep, and sheep showmanship competitions held recently at the Perry County Fair.

Herr has more than three decades of experience as a sheep judge, and judges about 12 shows each year. He went on to explain to the group that his job was made difficult because of the excellent work that 4-H leaders had done in preparing their kids.

In addition to the sheep shows, the fair featured market swine, market steer, market goat, dairy cattle, dairy goat, and rabbit competitions. Competition was especially keen in the market sheep and market swine shows. Showmanship competitions were also held in conjunction with all of the above shows.

Members of the Perry County 4-H clubs showed the majority of animals at the fair, althought FFA members from Newport, Greenwood, and West Perry High Schools also participated. Several open competitors, including people from outside the county, also showed animals at the fair.

Market swine judge Larry Arnold of Lebanon County told 4-H members to remember the parents, leaders, and others at the fair who worked so hard to help with the livestock show. From a total of 71 swine, the honors for grand champion went to Amber Hetrick's 270-pound Hampshire hog. Honors for reserve grand champion went to Sam Lowe's 246-pound Yorkshire hog. Amanda Nace was Master Swine Showman, and Josh Holman was reserve champion swine showman.

Rachel Finkenbinder and brother Eric's Limousin steers won grand champion and reserve grand champion honors. Rachel was also Master Market Steer Showman, and Christine Petersen was reserve champion steer showman.

Honors and grand champion market goat went to Marijane Wright, with Sam Lowe's market goat being named reserve grand champion. The Master Market Goat Showman was Bart Gill, and the reserve champion showman was Sam Lowe.

In the dairy cattle show, an exceptional Holstein owned by Amanda Myers of the Perry County Dairy Club won awards for best udder, senior champion Holstein, grand champion Holstein, 4-H senior champion Holstein, and 4-H grand champion Holstein. Liza Haas was Master Dairy Cattle Showman.

In the dairy goat show, Starfire's WBB Alloette 4*M, owned by Helen Snyder, earned the titles of best doc in show, senior champion Nubian, and grand champion Nubian. A nubian doe owned by Kassy Snyder won honors for Best 4-H Doe in Show and 4-H Best of Breed. Kassy was also 4-H Master Dairy Goat Showman, with Sarah Spangler taking honors for 4-H reserve champion showman.

The meat pen of grand champion market rabbits was shown by Nicholas Campbell, who also won the master rabbit showman award.

On the fourth night of the fair, the master showman from each livestock category were assembled together to compete for the title of supreme showman, which was awarded after the participants had competed with each other by showing all categories of livestock. The Perry County Fair is one of the few fairs that sponsors this type of event. Because she had competed for supreme showman at a previous fair, master steer showman Rachel Finkenbinder allowed Christine Peterson, the reserve champion steer showman, to compete in her place. Several judges from different livestock categories were involved in the scoring process.

The judges awarded the title of supremen showman to Lisa Haas, with the title of reserve supreme showman going to Becky Myers.

GEHL New Swing Frame Mower Conditioners

Maneuverability and capacity of a self-propelled...at a pull-type price

One Super Deal On The 12'3" Cut Mower Conditioner

Available For Immediate Delivery at Binkley & Hurst Inc.

Gehl center-pivot swing frame mower conditioners deliver high volume cutting and conditioning with outstanding maneuverablity Two new models are available the 2245 with 12 3" cutting width

These machines pivot at the center of the frame for easy header positioning So you can cut back-and forth across the field from either the right or left side of the tractor or tow the unit directly behind the tractor for road travel

Change from windrow to swath in seconds without tools With stationary windrow shields and adjustable fluffer you can match drying conditions with high standing fluffy windrows or full width swaths

When it comes to cutting and conditioning these swing frames can t be beat Gehl's reliable simplified drive system powers the sicklebar for clean cutting The crop is gently swept to the augers and delivered to the wide 109-inch conditioning rolls for the thorough gentle conditioning needed for quick drying and maximum nutrient retention

The auger is powered by a chain drive with shearbolt protection The reel is powered by a simple belt drive system that provides overload protection

Model 2245 Ready to Mow At Binkley & Hurst Today!

Hinged shielding provides quick and easy access for adjustments and routine maintenance

Easily adjustable guard angle The guard angle adjusts from 6 to 14 degrees to match any field condition

The powerful hydraulic motor transmits power through an extremely simple drive system

Gentle crop transfer The 22 inch diameter fixed auger gently transports the crop to the conditioning rolls The auger speed is adjustable for varying crop conditions

43-inch diameter 4-bat reel sweeps your crop gently to the auger The reel position and speed are fully adjustable for varying conditions The riser pan is set at a steeper angle so the tines track closer to the pan for more even feeding of short crops

High header clearance The frame design permits a high lift height Built in cylinders make it easy to clear tall windrows when exiting the field

Three point flotation support provides both lateral and vertical flotation The header is carried on two outside arms and pivots on a center link for clean fast cutting in uneven fields This fast reacting system provides outstanding cutterbar protection from rocks and other field obstructions It s easily adjustable for varying field conditions

The center pivot tongue is also the oil reservoir and oil cooler with a capacity of nearly 28 gallons

Easy to use transport lock centers the unit securely in place during road travel

Simple, powerful sickle drive A hydraulic motor drives the sickle through a simple gearbox and V belt system with fewer moving parts The single swaybar delivers more power at the sickle head 1500 strokes per minute means smooth cutting at higher ground speeds

GEHL Scavenger® Manure Spreaders

In Stock at Binkley & Hurst

THE BEST JUST GOT BETTER!

Better Performance. Gehl Scavenger®, the original V-tank spreader, has built a well-deserved reputation for delivering unmatched performance in a wide variety of materials The new Scavenger takes that performance to the next level with even better spreading patterns in the toughest heavily bedded manures.

Increased Durability. Not only has the new Scavenger been designed to out-perform all other V-tank spreaders, but the main drive system components have been beefed-up for extra durability and increased dependability

Why Is Scavenger the Best? One big reason is the unique new round-core auger. This auger features segmented paddles grouped in a spiral pattern. This fighting configuration delivers more material to the discharge expeller in less time for faster unloading The paddles are precisely positioned to deliver more uniform feeding to the discharge expeller This exceptional design breaks up and blends all types of manure

The auger is hydraulically powered both up and down (unlike competitive units that use springs, gravity or fixed augers). This design provides more control to chop through bridged material or power down through heavy loads

Outstanding Application Control. Gehl's proven Varifio discharge system has been made even better. It's 33 percent wider on the Model 1315. On all new models the expeller assembly has been significantly strengthened New square-tooth expeller paddles spread smoothly and evenly You choose the rate you want, from heavy spring-time spreading to light top-dressing. With Scavenger you have complete control right at your fingertips

Scavenger is Simply Better. The Gehl Scavenger is a simple spreader It's solid and durable with sealed, welded tank construction and a full length channel steel sub-frame Every Scavenger is built to deliver top performance year after year

Your Gehl Dealer can show you why the new Scavenger V-tank spreader is still the best.

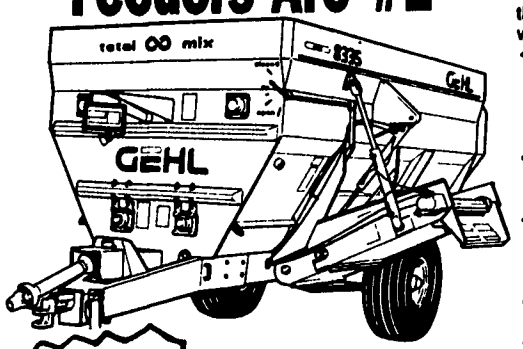
Gehl TMR Mixer Feeders Are #1



Nothing can maximize the return on investment in your dairy or beef feeding operation like a Total Mixed Ration (TMR) feeding system. And nothing makes TMR work better than a Gehl mixer feeder. Here's why:

- Better Mixing Action — Unique four-auger design creates a double figure-8 mixing pattern for fast and complete mixing of all feed ingredients.
- Energy Efficient — Planetary drive system requires less horsepower.
- Built To Last — Patented star couplers absorb shock loads by allowing the bottom augers to flex, providing long service life.
- Six Sizes — From 150 to 500 cubic feet mixing capacities
- Three Styles — Trailer type, stationary and truck-mounted units to fit your operation.

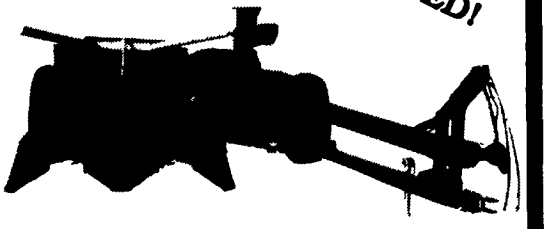
JUST ARRIVED!



2 or 3 Row Corn Head Equipped The Way You Need It!

Most Mix-All owners will never buy another.

In fact, you'd probably have a hard time convincing Gehl Mix-All® owners to even look at anything else. And why should they?

The Mix-All's big 21-inch wide hammermill features 66 reversible thin hammers that cut, rather than pound the feed to deliver a more consistent grind and ensure uniform mixing for a better feed conversion rate.

Gehl's self-contained hydraulic system is designed-in, not added on. It provides the precision of infinitely variable in-feed attachment control to match tractor power for greater grinding capacity. Plus you get fast, smooth, trouble-free unloading with greater reliability

And a wide variety of options and attachments lets you customize your Mix-All to fit any operation.

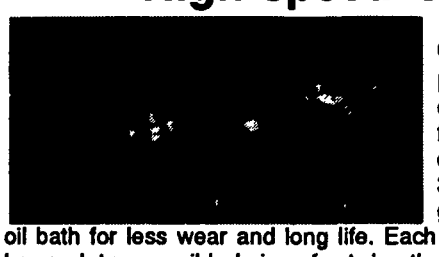
Binkley & Hurst Bros. Has Heavy Duty Gehl Pull Type Disc Mower Conditioners In Stock Ready To Work

ONLY FROM GEHL
Gehl's exclusive, full width, totally enclosed cutterbar support frame extends beneath the entire cutterbar. The cutterbar (outlined in yellow) is protected from direct impact with rocks or other field obstructions.

High-speed Cutting With Unmatched Durability



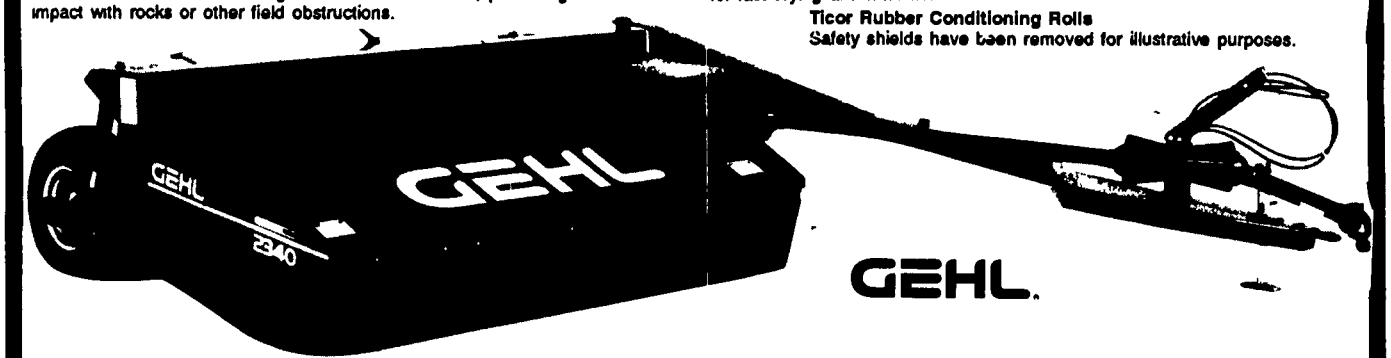
Gehl's reliable, proven disc cutterbar features gear-driven discs rotating at 3,000 rpm. The gears operate in an oil bath for less wear and long life. Each disc features two heavy-duty reversible knives for twice the cutting life. Specially designed v-blades and built-in lifters one each disc smoothly lift the cut crop into the conditioning rolls.

The skid shoes are attached to the support frame for added strength. There's one skid shoe beneath each cutting disc for additional support.

9 Foot Model Ready To Disc Mow

Today's Most Advanced Disc Mower Conditioner

A Gehl disc mower conditioner delivers exceptional cutting and conditioning even in your most difficult crops and conditions.
Rugged high-speed cutting discs, spinning at 3,000 rpm, easily slice down and tangled crops or dense wet undergrowth to deliver a clean cut.
The cut crop is delivered to Gehl's specially designed intermeshing rubber conditioning rolls for thorough, yet gentle crop conditioning. They'll condition your crop for fast drying.
Designed with the operator in mind.
These disc mower conditioners were designed from the ground up with the operator in mind. They're built extra-strong for more years of reliable service.
Unlike competitive units that use the cutterbar as a frame member, the Gehl disc mower conditioners feature a sturdy cutterbar support frame that extends beneath the entire cutterbar. This design cradles the cutterbar, protecting it from direct impact with rocks or other field obstructions.
In addition, the rugged trailer main frame is formed from a four-by-eight-inch structural steel tube for added strength and long life.
The 540 or 1000 rpm driveline features an equal angle hitch for smooth power transfer. A combination slip clutch/over-running clutch provides overload protection.
The rugged transmission delivers power to the cutting discs and conditioning rolls.
The gear-driven discs operate in an oil bath for extra-long life and dependable service.
The cutterbar carries a full two-year warranty.
WIDE ROLLS FOR BETTER CONDITIONING
Conditioning rolls are as wide as the cutterbar to deliver more uniform conditioning.
The full-width machined intermeshing conditioning rolls gently condition your crop for fast drying and maximum nutrient retention.
Ticor Rubber Conditioning Rolls
Safety shields have been removed for illustrative purposes.



Easy access all around.
A large hinged shield provides simple access to the cutterbar. In addition, hinged shielding allows easy entry to the conditioning roll drives for maintenance and adjustment
Backed by Gehl

Since 1859, Gehl Company has been serving world agriculture with products that have gained a reputation for dependability and innovative design. These disc mower conditioners continue that tradition.
An equal angle PTO delivers smooth, chatter-free power transfer
Three-point flotation support provides quick response. For uneven terrain, the three-point header flotation delivers a full 11 inches of oscillation. That's more lateral movement than four-point systems. You get clean fast, cutting with protection from rocks and other field obstructions.

EARTH METAL®– A WORLD OF DIFFERENCE

Case International Earth Metal disk blades do make a world of difference on a tandem disk harrow

An innovative patented process reduces the sulfides in steel that create fracture points in conventional blades Remaining sulfides are left in random non directional globules You don t have to be a chemist to understand what this means Longer wear – up to 20°o longer And 60% greater shock resistance

And our unique shallow concavity crimped center blades cut drawbar pull by 33% (compared to conical blades) and by more than 50°o compared to spherical blades That s fuel savings on top of longer wear and greater shock resistance

KUBOTA'S HIGH EFFICIENCY, LOW NOISE TRACTOR

Kubota's new B2400 (24 HP) multi-functional tractor is extremely versatile and efficient, yet quietly powerful. Equipped with Kubota's new E-TVCS 3-cylinder, liquid-cooled low emissions - "low noise" engine and an enclosed muffler and enclosed exhaust pipe.
Available in both 2WD and 4WD, a hydrostatic transmission - single pedal control of tractor speed and direction with no clutch, and Kubota's Bi-Speed Turn (reducing front wheel resistance) is optional.
Power steering, mid- and rear-PTO, operator comfort features, Kubota's performace-matched loaders and a line of heavy-duty implements enhance production and efficiency.

CLAAS

The high quality of corn forage produced by the JAGUAR is derived form the CLAAS corn cracker. Two saw toothed rollers run at different speeds with 20% difference open up virtually every kernel and this means good quality silage which is easily digested. This makes for highest energy transfer for r higher milk and meat yields.

The rollers are subject to wear and tear, so the CLAAS corn cracker features removable outer sleeves. The shafts, drive pulley and bearing are all reused, thus reducing maintenance costs. Foreign bodies pass through thanks to a spring loaded mechanism.

The 7.7" diameter of the corn cracker rollers is exceptionally large. The speed differential intensifies the grinding effect for effective opening of the kernels.

The degree of corn cracker intensity is adjustable to take account of differing dry matter content. This is done mechanically. An optional electrical adjustment is available.

Since the corn cracker stays on the machine, the changeover from corn to grass can always with a minimum of preparation. This is a help when grass and corn are being harvested at the same time. The area around the corn cracker ahead of the cooling system is very large, enabling ease of access to parts you wouldn't otherwise be able to reach.

Looking for a better combine?

Look to Massey Ferguson first.

Ever since Massey Ferguson introduced the very first self-propelled combine, they've been the preferred choice of some of the world's most demanding customers

It's a legacy of which we're extremely proud And it's an obligation we take very seriously The new MF 8450 and 8460 combines are a proud addition to this Massey Ferguson tradition for quality, performance and reliability

Plus they offer exciting new features that demonstrate the continuing Massey Ferguson commitment to providing you with the best value in combines

Belarus

8011L • 81 HP
UTILITY SERIES TRACTORS

BELARUS VALUE. IN MORE WAYS THAN ONE.

Introducing two big changes in how small jobs get done. The 8011L and 9011L offer a low clearance design and tight turning radius that provide even higher levels of maneuverability. Yet they still manage to offer the same durability, value and affordability you expect from Belarus.

Choose from the 8011L and it's tough 81 hp four cylinder water cooled engine or the 9011L's turbo charged 98 hp. Both engines have strong torque characteristics. Add it all up and you've got utility tractors ideal for every type of operation from orchards and vineyards to poultry operations and grounds maintenance.

But the exceptional value doesn't stop there. The 8011L and 9011L offer excellent lift capacity for front end loader applications. Other impressive features include power assisted steering and a fully adjustable seat for operator comfort and convenience.

Combined with their ease of maintenance and servicing, it's not hard to see how Belarus makes even the smallest jobs easier in a big, way. That's Belarus value.

CLEAN SILO CHUTE

Easy installation.
Retrofits many existing chutes.
